TUPPER SUPPORTS THE LIBERAL TICKET

"It Is My Intention," he says, "To Vote Liberal"
—Revolts Against "Wild and Unconsidered" Railway Policy.

(Vancouver Province, November 4th.)
Characterizing the bargain between the McBrice Government and the Canadian Northern Railway Company as "wild and unconsidered," Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper to-day declared that it was his intention to vote the entire Liberal ticket provided the Liberal party is as wholly opposed to the railway policy of the government as he is.
"This statement by Sir Charles followed an inquiry addressed to him as to the truth of a report persistently circulated in Liberal circles in Vancouver that it was his intention to be an independent Conservative candidate either in Vancouver or Richmond."
"I am not in public life," remarked Sir Charles, "and I will not be a candidate. However, I am opposed to the railway policy of the government. After reading Mr. Bowser's speech I could not support the railway policy. I look upon the bargain made by the government with the railway company as wild and unconsidered, and I think perhaps the government takes that view of it also, owing to the little time which they allow the people to consider it."

"It is rumored, Sir Charles, that you may take the platform in opposition to the government; is there any truth in that?"
"That is a matter I have not considered," replied Sir Charles without hesitation.
"It is my intention, however, to vote Liberal," he continued, after a momentary pause, "and I shall vote the whole Liberal ticket. I am not a Liberal, but when one fails to agree with a policy supported by certain candidates one can only express disapproval by voting for those who are in opposition to that policy. I shall vote Liberal provided the Liberals are opposed to the railway policy, though I do not yet know how far they are committed."

TELLS STORY OF CIVIC GROWTH

INCREASED BUSINESS OF ELECTRIC COMPANY

Now Employing Staff of Three Hundred and Fifty Men in All Departments.

That Victoria is growing very rapidly is reflected in the affairs of the local branch of the B. C. Electric Railway & Lighting Company and subsidiary concerns. A. T. Goward, in an interview with a Times representative this morning, conveyed the cheering information that the business of the company was increasing so rapidly that it was taxing all their facilities to cope with the situation.

Mr. Goward quoted some interesting figures to show how great had been the expansion of the company's clientele, and consequently the progress of the city. There are now employed in the head office at the corner of Port and Langley streets no less than 25 men; two years ago all the business was being handled by a clerical staff half that size.

To-day the company is employing in all departments somewhere in the neighborhood of 350 men, not to speak of those who are being given employment on the Jordan River power enterprise. This is a big increase over last year.

The electrical output of the company—or in other words, the "load"—has increased over a similar date last year no less than 25 per cent.

In this latter connection Mr. Goward explains that while the great increase in the "load" may be accounted for by the fact that the company is now operating more large cars with four motors where the small cars only have two, yet it signifies that there has been a tremendous increase in the number of power services and the number of new lights supplied to residences.

Additional lights and power services mean that hundreds of new homes are being erected and that the industrial concerns of the city are being increased in number, as where each new motor is installed in a factory or machine shop it is done in response to a call for aid to drive the wheels of industry.

Referring to the fact that the company has just placed larger cars on the Douglas Street-Outer Wharf line, Mr. Goward said that this was possible owing to the fact that the large cars have now been released from service on the Gorge run, not being required there during the winter months as the traffic to that point is comparatively light during this period of the year. There had been a great increase in business on the Douglas street line, said Mr. Goward, and he hoped to be able to keep the larger cars on the line permanently. Of course it was the policy of the company to constantly improve the rolling stock, and orders were now placed with the manufacturers for a supply of large cars so that the small ones may in time be entirely eliminated.

to reduce the service from ten minutes to fifteen on several lines.
Asked when he hoped to be getting power from Jordan river, Mr. Goward said the engineers were confident that the plant would be in operation by Christmas of 1910, but personally he did not think that power would be available until about February of 1911.

HOLD-UP MAN SENTENCED.
Parry Sound, Ont., Nov. 4.—Nicola Alilo, an Italian, was sentenced to 15 years yesterday by Judge McGee, for shooting a Bulgarian whom he intended to rob. The victim was hit on the head and only slightly wounded. Alilo ran off, but was later captured.

INVITES JAPAN TO ENTER COMPACT

PROPOSAL OF U. S. SECRETARY OF STATE

Suggests Scheme for Settlement of Disputes Between Two Countries.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—Much discussion has been occasioned in official circles here to-day by the speech of Secretary of State Knox last night, in which he invited Japan to enter a compact making practically compulsory peaceful settlement of all differences that may arise with the United States.

The secretary's invitation was not in the form of a state document. It was a suggestion to the commercial commissioners at a banquet given in honor of the visitors from the Mikado's land. After proposing a toast and dwelling on the amity and harmony that prevail between the two nations, Mr. Knox said:

"Commerce, exchange, markets, trade extensions—these are the fields in which the friendly commercial rivalry now proceeds between American and Japanese peoples find expression. Each, indeed, furnishes a wide market for the other, and beyond their respective boundaries they engage in this friendly trade competition for the various markets of the world, and will continue so to engage."

"But the great modern movements of accord and good understanding between nations are after all the lofty achievements and crown of all international relations."

"The controlling principles of these movements is peaceful and beneficial international intercourse and the peaceful settlement by arbitration of differences and controversies—extending that principle by friendly diplomacy, as rapidly as possible to embrace an increasing number and variety of disputes, and ultimately by voluntary international compacts making peace settlements of all differences compulsory, or practically so."

"Thus the long and unbroken friendship of the United States and Japan, of which your visit and this occasion are such happy symbols, and the laudable common purpose of Japan and the United States to respect each other's rights and with frankness, patience and good temper to adjust such differences as inevitably arise even between nations of sympathetic and common purposes, will be exemplars which will bear fruit and aid in the gradual realization of the noblest ideals for the unity, concord and prosperity of the world."

MAN CONFESSES DOUBLE MURDER

CREATES SENSATION IN PARIS COURT

Declares Mme. Steinheil Had Nothing to Do With Tragedy.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Paris, Nov. 4.—A man who gave the name of Lefebvre rose in court to-day during the trial of Mme. Steinheil and electrified the assemblage by confessing that he murdered Steinheil and Mme. Joy.

The incident occurred shortly after Mme. Marguerite Steinheil, "the red widow," accused of murdering her artist husband and mother-in-law, had resumed the stand in to-day's session. The announcement of Lefebvre came like a thunderclap to the accused woman, the president judge, the spectators and the attorneys in the case.

The woman had just stood up and was emphasizing some point in her testimony, when Lefebvre arose in his seat and shouted:—"Release that woman. She is innocent. I alone am responsible. Mme. Steinheil had nothing to do with the death of her husband and Mme. Joy. I killed them and I am glad of it."

As this confession fell from the lips of the man, Mme. Steinheil tottered and would have fallen had not gentlemen rushed to her assistance and carried her to a chair.

Lefebvre was removed from the court room and given over to the custody of the police, who will make a complete investigation of his confession. It was some time before the examination of the woman who yesterday moved the assemblage with all the skill of a consummate actress could be continued.

LEADER OF GREEK REVOLT ARRESTED

Naval Officer Believes He Can Justify Recent Mutiny.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Athens, Nov. 4.—Lieutenant Tzaidos, who led the naval revolt against King George last week, was captured to-day by government troops on the Kephissos road. He was accompanied by Lieutenant Dimoulis.

When the soldiers approached to place the two under arrest neither resisted. They were taken to the arsenal and imprisoned. It is understood that they will be court-martialed as soon as a court can be called together to try them.

Tzaidos declares that he was en route to the capital with the express intention of surrendering. He said that he believes he can justify the recent mutiny and the part he took in it.

AIRSHIP SQUADRON SURPRISES GARRISON

German Dirigible Balloons Make Sham Attack on Fortress.

Cologne, Nov. 4.—The German airship squadron, consisting of the dirigible Farfadet II, Zeppelin II, and the military airship No. 11, executed a sham attack upon the fortress Ehrenbreitstein. Leaving herey soon after midnight the squadron flew up the Rhine to Coblenz, surprised the garrison there and then swooped down upon the fortress on the opposite side of the river.

GEOLOGICAL SPECIMENS.
(Special to the Times.)
Ottawa, Nov. 4.—Wilson Foster of the Yukon, has presented ten thousand geological specimens from Northern Canada to the Geological museum. They include gold, topaz, and opal taken from the crops and gizzards of porcupine, grouse and other gallinaceous birds in the north.

MURDER SUSPECT UNDER ARREST

ACCUSED OF KILLING THREE PERSONS ON RANCH

Prisoner Declares He Is Innocent and Can Prove Alibi.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 4.—John Mead, a Hungarian farm laborer, is under arrest to-day, accused of murdering his employer, George Thoburn, Mrs. Thoburn and the latter's mother on the Thoburn homestead near Quella Lake.

The triple murder was discovered by a man named Dixon, who was passing the Thoburn ranch on Wednesday afternoon, when his attention was attracted by the cries of a child. In the cellar of the home he found Thoburn dead from a bullet wound, and nearby was a four-year-old boy who had been dazed by a blow on the head. A two-year-old girl was found unharmed hiding in the shadow of a stove.

Further investigation revealed Mrs. Thoburn and her mother dead. A bullet had caused the death of the younger woman, while Mrs. Thoburn's mother's throat had been cut from ear to ear.

According to the story told by the boy, the murders had been committed by Mead, who is said to have run amuck last Sunday. The laborer, according to neighbors of Thoburn's, was exceedingly hot-headed.

A posse late last night traced Mead to Wynyard, where he was placed under arrest. The accused man declares that he is innocent and says he can prove an alibi.

WINNING TICKET HAS BEEN NOMINATED

Liberals Hold Enthusiastic Convention Last Evening—Leader of Opposition and Three Strong Supporters Named to Carry Victoria.

JOHN OLIVER,
RICHARD L. DRURY,
WILLIAM K. HOUSTON,
HENRY A. MUNN.

The above ticket was chosen by the Liberals of Victoria last night at a most enthusiastic convention held in Broad street hall. The large hall was crowded with electors, who were all animated by a spirit of the utmost confidence. That there is an excellent chance to redeem the city was the sense of the gathering and the candidates chosen, it was felt, are the men to achieve that.

Thoroughly harmonious were the proceedings from start to finish, auguring well for the success of the campaign upon which the candidates entered this morning. While electors had their partialities in making a choice between the several names put before them, when the decision was arrived at by ballot all became animated by the great gathering, and frequent cheers and applause testified to the appreciation of the ticket.

The reception given to the name of the leader of the opposition, when he was proposed as one of the city candidates, and to himself when he arrived from the Saanich convention, was a flattering one. Mr. Oliver made one of his fighting speeches, going over the leading issues of the campaign, and pointing out the weaknesses of the government and the inherent defects of its policy. The clear exposition of the statesman like policy of the Liberal party was listened to with pleasure by the great gathering, and frequent cheers and applause testified to the appreciation of the ticket.

R. B. McMeekin was called to the chair, and the preliminary business of the convention was disposed of quickly. On the platform with him were Senator Drury, J. N. Evans, ex-M.P.P., Duncan John Jardine, the candidate in Esquimalt, and subsequently the gentlemen who were put in nomination.

John Oliver Nominated.
Lieut.-Col. Gregory, in moving the nomination of the leader of the opposition, said the Liberals of Victoria could not better show their appreciation of Mr. Oliver and of party than by placing his name upon the ticket by acclamation. Mr. Oliver had always had the courage of his convictions in the House and out of it, and never failed to explain his views in a way that impressed every citizen. There was every probability that a change of government was at hand, and the country wanted a practical business man at the head of affairs, such as Mr. Oliver was.

Ex-Ald. W. G. Cameron said he considered it an honor and a pleasure to be the seconder of Mr. Oliver's nomination. He had been in the House with Mr. Oliver, who was a first-class public man. The country would be well pleased and satisfied with the election of Mr. Oliver, not only to represent the capital city of the province, but to become head of a new government.

The nomination of the leader was received with cheers, and was agreed to by a standing vote amid a scene of great enthusiasm. "For he's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung with a heartiness which bespoke the leader's popularity, and a call for three cheers was responded to with vigor.

Other Nominations.
Six other nominations followed rapidly, with brief speeches, as follows:
Ald. W. F. Fullerton, proposed by Mayor Hall, seconded by J. Russell Westcott.

R. L. Drury, proposed by John Hart, seconded by A. B. Fraser, Jr.

W. K. Houston, proposed by W. H. Langley, seconded by James Paterson.

A. B. McNeill, proposed by Dr. Ernest Hall, seconded by J. M. Campbell.

R. Van Munster, proposed by D. W. Higgins, seconded by E. S. Woodward.

H. A. Munn, proposed by H. W. Davies, seconded by Arthur Brakes.

Views of Candidates.
A. B. McNeill was the first of the candidates to be called on to speak, and he expressed his sense of the compliment of being named at such a magnificent gathering. He was fully in accord with the policy of the Liberal party and its leader. In regard to land he stood for the settler against the speculator, as did the party. On education, in which as an old teacher and as a school trustee, he felt a deep interest, he was of opinion that there were too many subjects on the curriculum, and that the number should be lessened. It was to be regretted that politicians, in considering the development of resources, seldom thought of the development of that greatest of resources, the young life of the country, for which he would stand above all things.

The premier had told them he was going to do a lot of things; the things he did not do would fill a book. ("A big one," said a voice.) Alone of provincial capitals Victoria was without a normal school, and it was stated that the next one to be established would be at Nelson. Were Victorians going to stand for that? ("No," not much.") If he were to be a representative of the people of Victoria he would work for a normal school here and would do all he could to see the university established in this city.

On the matter of local option Mr. McNeill said he believed absolutely in self-government and in home rule for the city of Victoria. This city and all other municipalities should have the right to decide for themselves whether or not they desired the sale of liquor to continue. Mr. McNeill concluded by withdrawing his name and pledging his support to the nominees of the convention.

Ald. Fullerton said he was willing to stand as a candidate in the interests of the working classes, whose place was with the Liberal party, which had given labor all the legislation it had ever received anywhere. In reply to Dr. Ernest Hall, who put the question to all the nominees, Ald. Fullerton said he believed there should be a local option law irrespective of the plebiscite vote.

R. L. Drury, as one of the old guard, stated that he had been urged to submit his name, and he placed himself in the hands of the electors. Whether selected or not he would work with all his might to elect whoever the electors might be. As to local option, he was on record, as was Mr. Oliver, as voting for a local option resolution moved in the House by J. N. Evans, and voted down by almost the entire Conservative party, including Mr. McBrice.

R. Van Munster said he allowed his name to be mentioned because more and more there came from the old guard the cry for new blood, and he stood forward as one of the young men. He believed the Liberal party would be true to itself the more young Liberals came out and explained themselves. Victoria needed men who would stand for Victoria; Victoria had never been treated as the step-child of the province; it wanted men who would refuse to allow it to be longer given merely the crumbs from the table.

W. K. Houston remarked that he appeared for the first time as a political candidate. If elected he would give the people the best he possessed in their service. He had always stood for Victoria, first, last and all the time, and would endeavor to see that the capital took her proper place, not second to Vancouver and any other city. In the legislature just dissolved she had been misrepresented by dummies. On no occasion had the gentlemen who were sent across the bar ever stood up for its interests. Once Mr. Thomson did, as far as he could, help to pass a water bill—citizens afterwards said what they thought of that bill. In regard to local option he said he believed thoroughly in the liberty of the subject, and thought there should be a law giving the people an opportunity of saying whether or not they wanted public houses thrust under their noses, if elected he would vote for a local option bill.

H. A. Munn said he came before the convention as a normal man, seeking the suffrages of his normal fellow-citizens. He would be a Victorian out-and-out, a Vancouver Islander. If Mr. Bowser was going to gobble everything for Vancouver other parts of the province would have to fight for their rights, and he intended to fight for Victoria. (Applause.) He would be ever guided by the wishes of the people. If local option meant that the most honest and the best should be directly responsible to the people for their actions then he was for it now and in the House.

BIG LOG BOOMS BROKEN UP BY FLOODS

Columbia River Pilots Are Warned of Danger to Navigation.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Portland, Ore., Nov. 4.—On account of the heavy rains of the past four days many of the rivers in Washington and Oregon are out of their banks. The Willamette, Columbia, Lewis, Cowlitz, Chehalis, Puyallup, White and other rivers are at high water stage and several of them are overflowing their banks.

Many logs are being carried into Grays Harbor on account of the high water in the Chehalis river and its tributaries. The Lewis, in Southern Washington, is overflowing, and it is feared that the waters will cut a new channel through valuable farming land along its banks.

Three million feet of logs and one million feet of ties have broken from their booms in the Lewis river and are drifting seaward into the Columbia. Pilots on the Columbia have been warned and are keeping a sharp lookout for drifting logs, as they are a serious menace to navigation. No damage has been reported along the Willamette river.

The rainfall to-day has been light and conditions throughout the flooded district have moderated during the last 24 hours. Snow in the Cascades has practically disappeared and no danger from that source has been removed.

E. A. CREASE LIBERAL CANDIDATE IN NELSON

Conservatives Split Over the Selection of Harry Wright.

(Special to the Times.)

Nelson, B. C., Nov. 4.—The Liberal convention last night unanimously elected E. A. Crease to contest Nelson city at the forthcoming election. Mr. Crease, who is police magistrate of Nelson, was called to British Columbia in 1897, shortly afterwards coming to Nelson, when he was appointed stipendiary and police magistrate. He recently resigned the former but retained latter position.

The convention was well attended and very enthusiastic. Mr. Crease said he would run a clean campaign, whatever the other party did, and carry the Liberal colors to victory. Dr. Hall, M. P., and Hon. W. C. Wells also addressed the meeting, reviewing the McBride government's work and dissecting the railway policy.

Referring to the Canadian Northern agreement, Mr. Hall stated that McBride's statement that competitive rates would be established was a falsity, as there was a set rate all over the Dominion, controlled by the railroad commission. If McBride repeats the statement in Nelson to-morrow night he will take the point up with him.

Referring to Mr. Oliver, he said he is the finest man and best politician who ever sat in the House. He helped McBride to retain office as long as he has done by seeing that bills were in order, instead of in a sloppy mess as when just presented to the House.

The Conservatives are hopelessly split to-day over the selection of Harry Wright last night. The Lennie faction will have nothing to do with him, and there is talk of running an independent Conservative. Liberals are confident of winning, and in Judge Crease have a man respected by all.

At Revelstoke. B. C., Nov. 4.—Despite laborious efforts of the opera house owner to wash the legend off the outside wall, "Vote for Lindmark," a relic of the opposition candidate's recent successful municipal election fight, greeted the eyes of all who attended the McBride meeting last night in the auditorium. The irony of the situation was increased by the fact that the opera house owner is a strong Taylor man. Taylor's last majority was about 140, and since then the timber bridge, in the course of erection across the Columbia river, a few yards south of the iron bridge, with country piers carrying the railway over the stream, speaks of Taylor's efforts as minister of works.

The audience gathered slowly last night. Premier McBride set forth the railway policy at length. The point which he labored in his speech of an hour and a half to emphasize was that he favored the construction of branch lines. The proposal to continue the Canadian Northern down from Yellow Head pass by way of Canoe river through the Big Bend country to Golden and Revelstoke is, he said, a proposal which has already been discussed with Mackenzie and Mann, who are anxious to take up the deal as Mackenzie knows the country and has interests in it.

Continuing the premier said: "When we finally discussed the proposal he said: 'I want you to guarantee to assist the construction of branch lines. I can find the money. We will build the roads because there is business waiting for us.'"

"I say to you to-night that I will clear up this point, that so soon as work on the main line has progressed to the extent that there is visible assurance of the arterial line being built from Yellow Head to Barclay Round, just as soon will I be prepared to close lines to Kootenay, Columbia, Okanagan and Nicola countries."

He declared if the electors disapproved of his policy he would step down and out of provincial politics.

Other Nominations. Vernon, Nov. 4.—Mayor P. R. Hart, of Kelowna, has been nominated as Liberal candidate for Okanagan. Hon. P. Elliott was yesterday nominated as candidate by the Conservatives.

BUDGET DEBATE DRAWS TO CLOSE

WILL PASS HOUSE OF COMMONS TO-NIGHT

Measure to Be Introduced in House of Lords on Monday.

(Times Leased Wire.)

London, Nov. 4.—The House of Commons will conclude the debate on the budget at midnight, and it was announced this evening that it then will be passed by a majority of about 250. The measure will be introduced informally in the House of Lords on Monday. The Lords then will adjourn until November 22nd, when the right of the passage of the measure will begin.

Should the peers reject this budget the administration must resign and a general election be called. It would depend upon this election whether the Liberal party's scheme of taxation as set forth in the budget is to prevail or whether the Conservatives are to be given an opportunity to raise the national revenues by means of customs duties.

For months both parties have been issuing definite statements as to what the House of Lords will do.

Under the English system the budget becomes operative as soon as it is introduced and continues so unless, as has never happened in the past, it fails to secure parliament's approval. Lord Lansdowne's plan is not actually to throw out the present measure but to postpone discussion of it until after an election. It must remain operative for the time and the Conservatives, if victorious at the polls, could amend it at their leisure. It is far from certain, however, that Mr. Balfour and Lord Lansdowne together can force this policy upon the Lords.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George frankly admits that his budget is an attack upon the aristocracy and the latter is quite frank in its declaration that it means to fight for its class.

VERDICT OF MURDER IN CASE OF ANDREA

Coroner's Jury Support Theory That Italian Was Shot.

This morning the inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death of Salvatore Andrea was continued. There was little evidence to be heard. The circumstances connected with the finding of the body were given as published at the time.

The coroner's jury, after considering the evidence, brought in a verdict that Andrea came to his death by being murdered by some person or persons unknown.

The provincial police are still seeking information as to the whereabouts of the Italians for whom a reward is offered and who have not yet been found.

The two new combination hose wagon and chemical machines purchased for the fire department have arrived at the fire hall. They were inspected this morning by Ald. Mable and G. L. Beckwith. The machines will be sent one each to Yates street and James Bay stations.

Wm. Wainwright, second vice-president of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway company, said to the Times this afternoon that the Colonist had misreported him to some extent on the question of his views respecting the labor problem in connection with the construction of the railway in this province. His position was that the company would be glad to get any kind of labor. It had never asked for yellow-labor from any government.

The funeral of the late Mrs. L. G. McQuade took place this morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, 833 Vancouver street, and at 9:30 o'clock at the Roman Catholic cathedral, where requiem high mass was conducted by the Rev. Father Brabant. The choir was also in attendance. Services at the graveside were conducted by the Rev. Father Latour. There was a large attendance of old time friends of the deceased and many beautiful floral tributes were present. The following acted as pallbearers: W. C. Cameron, T. Lubbe, J. Kingham, A. Monteth, A. Campbell and D. E. Campbell.

FAVORS INCREASED CONTRIBUTION TO NAVY

Natal's Delegate Speaks on Imperial Defence Conference.

Pietmaritzburg, Natal, Nov. 4.—Colonel Greene, Natal's delegate to the Imperial defence conference, speaking on behalf of the government in the house, deprecated the desire for the publication of the proceedings of the conference. He denied that three South African delegates betrayed a tendency towards secession and he eulogized the Imperial spirit in New Zealand and other dominions and declared South Africa's contribution to the navy inadequate.

The motion for the publication of the report was then withdrawn.

London, Nov. 4.—A meeting unique in the annals of the University of Toronto was held in convocation hall yesterday when some 2,000 male students gathered in response to a call issued by President Falconer. The disgraceful rowdyism of hallowe'en was the cause of the meeting. Addressing the meeting, President Falconer suggested that the students of the various faculties at once organize and through duly accredited delegates make representations to the students parliament, which controls all the faculty societies, giving an absolute assurance that they by every means in their power will discourage and actively suppress rowdyism among the student body.

LOST FOR DAYS ON CALIFORNIA DESERT

Prospector Found in Pitiful Condition by Members of Rescue Party.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 4.—Exhausted, his feet and hands torn by cactus spines and sharp rocks, and his mind still showing the terrible strain for four days on the California Nevada desert without food or water, Albert Balha, a former Los Angeles resident, is recuperating at Los Angeles, near the Nevada line.

Balha left San Francisco, where he has a wife and child, several weeks ago. In company with his partner, Jack Lampelade, he left Lee, Nevada, October 20th, intending to follow the Lee Consolidated Trail to the Echo-Lee mining district.

The small supply of water the men carried became exhausted and within a week Balha was in a delirious condition. Lampelade then left his friend and alone managed to make his way to Lee, California.

A searching party under the leadership of Hughey Leonard, noted desert scout, was dispatched to take up Balha's trail.

Leonard told the story of the rescue of the wanderer and their return to this camp. "When we found Balha," he said, "he was crawling about on his hands and knees and trying to catch a little green lizard. He was laughing to himself and talking to the lizard. At last we were able to take his attention away from the reptile. When he saw us he laughed. It was the most awful sound I expect to hear. He told us he had been eating lizards."

INSURGENTS VICTORIOUS.

San Domingo Government Forces Suffer Defeat.

Cape Haitien, Nov. 4.—Dispatches reaching here state that government troops had an encounter with the insurgents near Guayabin recently in which they lost five killed and eleven wounded. The government forces were dispersed, the insurgents remaining masters of the situation. They re-entered Guayabin, which was one of the towns they seized a few weeks ago. All the frontier is in arms. It is difficult to get news through, as a strict censorship is being observed.

SHEAF-GRAIN FROM SOUTHERN ALBERTA

Will Be Exhibited in Dominion Agencies in Europe and United States.

Calgary, Nov. 4.—Southern Alberta has again been signally honored by the Dominion government. For two years in succession the government immigration authorities have found that the best samples of sheaf-grain obtainable were to be secured in the district tributary to Calgary. Five carloads of sheaf-grain secured near here, and consisting of 4,250 sheaves of Banner oats and 150 of Preston wheat, were forwarded this week to Winnipeg, where the grain will be put in shape for exhibition at various government agencies in Europe and the United States. Five sheaves of oats gave a bushel of grain, and last year this land gave a yield of 125 bushels of oats to the acre. The crop of this year has not been threshed yet. Reports of heavy yields continue to come in, among others being that of James Maylor, of Gleichen, in the Bow valley, who secured 22 bushels of flax to the acre and from a test acre plot of Spring wheat, sown on May 20th, secured 64 bushels weighing between 65 and 66 pounds to the bushel. W. D. Trego, of Gleichen, reports 37 acres of oats averaging 120 bushels per acre, and 23 acres of Spring wheat averaging 43 bushels to the acre, the crops being raised in the vicinity of Bassano, in the Bow valley, showing that the eastern and central section of the irrigation block will ultimately have a greater diversity of crops than any other section of western Canada. Settlers there have this year again been highly successful in raising watermelons, citrons, cucumbers, tomatoes, corn, etc.

GRAND CAMP OF ARCTIC BROTHERHOOD

Tables Resolution Calling for Territorial Form of Government for Alaska.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 3.—A resolution demanding of congress a territorial form of government for Alaska, was yesterday afternoon tabled by the Grand camp of the Arctic Brotherhood, after having referred it to a committee.

The opponents of the resolution urged that a territorial form of government was inexpedient at this time, and that with the recent expression of President Taft, who favors a commission to formulate local laws, any present demand would be futile. It was also urged that the question dealt with politics, which the organization had decided to eliminate from the lodge room.

One of the questions to be taken up by the grand camp this afternoon is of the proposed amendment to the constitution, taking from the grand lodge the power to create honorary members. Much criticism recently was indulged in by the several subordinate camps in Alaska because of the action of the grand camp in conferring honorary membership upon President Taft, who on the occasion of his visit to Seattle, declared in a speech that the citizens of Alaska were not capable of self-government.

HONDURAS MUST NOT INVADE NICARAGUA

United States and Mexico Are Closely Watching Events in Central America.

Port Cortez, Spanish Honduras, Oct. 23, via New Orleans, Nov. 4.—"Hands off Nicaragua," is said to be the gist of several cable messages that are reported to have been received recently by President Davila, of Honduras, from the state department at Washington, telling him that the United States and Mexico are closely watching the conduct of the Honduran government in regard to the Nicaraguan revolution.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Man Who Killed Brother-in-Law Ends His Own Life.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 4.—William A. Stein who shot and killed his brother-in-law, Ed Livermore, property man of the Princess theatre on the night of September 23rd is dead at the home of his brothers, Stein who had been brooding continually over the death of his brother-in-law, hanged himself while his brother had gone to the polls for the purpose of voting. When they returned they found him hanging by a strap. He evidently had been dead half an hour. An empty three ounce bottle was found on the floor indicating that he had taken poison before hanging himself.

The trouble that resulted in the death of Livermore was of long standing and reached its culmination when he went to the Stein home and attempted to remove some of the things that had belonged to his dead wife. Stein had written Livermore forbidding him to enter the home. When Stein found Livermore in the house a fight ensued, and during the fracas Livermore was shot in the face. He died on the way to the emergency hospital. Stein was out on bail in the sum of $10,000.

THREE WOMEN ON BOARD OF EDUCATION

Mayor of New York Grants Request of Suffrage Organization.

New York, Nov. 4.—As one of the few important official acts which fall to Mayor George B. McClellan before his administration closes on December 31st, he appointed yesterday three women to the board of education, and thereby conceded one of the principal demands of the woman's suffrage organization.

It is the first time in more than a quarter of a century that women have gained representation on the board of education, and the news was heralded through women's suffrage ranks and welcomed as a victory.

In 1881 Mayor William B. Grace first recognized women's right to be represented on the board of education, and appointed two members. Mayor McClellan went one better than this precedent, and named three women, each of whom represents a different religious faith. They are Mrs. Herbert D. Robbins, Miss Olivia Leventry, a daughter of State Supreme Court Justice Leventry, both of New York city, and Mrs. Alfred S. Post, of Flushing, L. I.

NEW YORK ASSEMBLY.
Author of "Raines Hotel Law" Among Republicans Who Met Defeat.
Albany, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The next state assembly will be composed of 166 Republicans and 48 Democrats, making a gain of two for the Republicans. The most sensational feature of the election in this connection was the defeat of State Senator John Raines. He was the author of the famous "Raines hotel law."

His defeat was brought about on a charge made by Herbert Parsons, chairman of the Republican committee of New York county, that Raines aided Tammany in return for Tammany's aid given to Speaker Cannon in the fight on the rules in the last congressional session. It was alleged that Raines fixed up a deal between Tammany and Cannon.
FIVE INJURED IN EXPLOSION.
Windsor, Ont., Nov. 4.—Five men were injured in a dynamite explosion yesterday that shook Amherstburg and vicinity as if by an earthquake. The explosion occurred off Boys' Island just as the big steel drill boat destroyer was steaming by. The boat was badly damaged. Her crew narrowly escaped.

THE LIBERAL CANDIDATES.

The Times is not giving expression to a mere conventional political opinion in the strictly party sense when it says that the convention of the Liberal party held last evening for the purpose of nominating candidates to contest the city on behalf of clean, honest, safe, sound, and yet progressive government, was one of the largest, most orderly and most harmonious that has ever been held in Victoria. The enthusiasm which prevailed was not of the made-to-order variety. It was as spontaneous as the sentiment was unanimous that the candidates who received the nomination would prove the choice of a majority of the electors on the 24th of November—that election day would be a day of reckoning for the quartette, called even by their political friends in candid sarcasm the "big four," who have deliberately sacrificed the interests of the city to party expediency on the order of the Premier and his Attorney-General.

The candidates nominated are all well-known to the people of Victoria. They do not require any introduction to the electors. Not one of them is a native son in the strict sense of the term, but they have all been born of the true Western spirit. They are proud to own themselves British Columbians, and we feel we are on safe ground in prophesying that the day is not far distant when British Columbia will be quite as proud to acknowledge them and to recognize their services.

There were others at the Liberal convention last evening, whose names were mentioned as candidates but who gracefully bowed to the will of the majority, who will yet be heard from in the public life of the province. The speeches delivered were all of necessity very short, with the exception of the address of the leader. But brief as they were, they left a well-defined impression that the material at the command of the Liberal party was not all exhausted by any means in the nomination of Messrs. Oliver, Drury, Houston and Mann.

Political philosophers tell us that the essence of good citizenship, as of everything else worth while in this world, is service. The unsuccessful aspirants for nomination last evening pledged themselves heartily and sincerely to do all in their power to insure the success of the Liberal candidates at the polls on election day. We have it again on the authority of persons of the widest experience, that nothing in this world that is worth while can be attained without effort, without hard work. We all know that the McBride government is strongly entrenched—that every device at its command, all the power of patronage and of political leverage which in such hands goes with the possession of power, has been utilized to dig the entrenchments deep and make them strong. There was plenty of evidence of the nature of the system given at the Tory convention last evening, a convention presided over by the master mind at deep and disreputable political intrigue who holds in the hollow of his hand the present and the future of the McBride government, if it has any future. These forces can only be overcome by enthusiasm and hard work, by impressing the masses of the electorate with the gravity of the situation and convincing them that they have an important duty to perform in casting their ballots on election day.

We can tell the Liberals of the city of Victoria, and all who while not professing Liberals stand on principle for eradicating the taint that has fallen upon the administration of affairs in British Columbia, that a tide of public opinion is beginning to manifest itself which augurs ill for the McBride government, and that if they play their part well, that government will be swept from power on the 24th inst.

STRONG CANDIDATES.

One of the most notable features of the campaign as far as it has gone, and the most hopeful from the point of view of the Liberals, is the excellence of the candidates who have been selected to contest the various constituencies in the opposition interests. We have already remarked on the strength of the ticket in the city of Vancouver. There is undoubtedly a tremendous Liberal renaissance in this important part of the province. Conservatives as well as Liberals feel that the day of reckoning is approaching for the Green-McBride administration. It is doubtful if the Liberals of Victoria could have made a wiser choice than they have done in placing Messrs. Oliver, Drury, Houston and Mann in nomination. John Jardine can have no difficulty in disposing of Harry Helmcken in Esquimalt. H. C. Brewster has a comparatively easy road to travel in Alberni, although he is taking no chances. Thomas Brydon, a man of sterling character and unimpeachable integrity, well known in Victoria and possessing the confidence of all who know him, was also selected last night to contest the constituency of Saanich against D. M. Eberts. In a sense Mr. Brydon is a man of the old school. That is to say, he is precisely the antithesis of his opponent in every respect. He will descend to no trickery nor countenance anything politically he would condemn privately in order to win. It is said the voters' lists have been loaded against him, and that already plenty of money is making its appearance from mysterious sources in the constituency. But the suburban and rural elector is of a particularly sturdy moral type, on the whole. He has an inherent abhorrence of chicanery in any form. We therefore doubt whether the promise of a railway to the Mainland will this time elect Mr. D. M. Eberts.

NOT MISREPRESENTED.

Speaking of the English Bluff portion of the McBride government's railway policy, the Times last night said: Our contemporary (the Colonist) "itself admitted that the policy was a fake when it naively admitted a day or two ago that the thought of ferry connection with the Island had never entered Mr. Mann's mind until he came down to Victoria to sign that memorandum of Premier McBride and to receive from Premier McBride a memorandum of provincial obligations in return." This statement the Colonist says to-day is a misrepresentation, and then, after apologising for introducing a personal element into the controversy (with the usual transparent design of magnifying a personality of which it entertains a very exalted opinion), our contemporary regally unobscures itself of the harrowing reflection that misrepresentation cannot be prevented. It is only necessary to quote our contemporary's own words, printed on Tuesday, November 2, to prove that in making the statement it did the Times did not misrepresent the position of the McBride organ. Here is what it said: "The Colonist can say from its own knowledge of Mr. Mann's intentions that they did not originally include construction on Vancouver Island." The weakness of our egotistical neighbor lies in the fact that it pours forth words, usually meaningless and lacking point or relevance in such torrent that it forgets to-day what it said yesterday. In its anxiety to lead the public to believe that it is on terms of intimate relationship with the great magnates of the transportation world in this case it let the Tory cat out of the bag, and now it would fain drag the bag over its own head. But the confession was not necessary to convince any one in Victoria that the original intention of the Canadian Northern Railway Company did not contemplate railway construction upon Vancouver Island. Every one who has considered the situation as it is now and has been at previous provincial general elections, who remembers two previous contracts with Mackenzie & Mann and what resulted from them, knew that Mr. Mann had never contemplated, and knows that he does not now contemplate, railway construction on Vancouver Island. Premier McBride, remembering how the people of Victoria had been humbugged in the past by men of his peculiar political principles, conceived the idea of bamboozling them again. He doubtless thinks past experience has been forgotten and that before it is again necessary to make an appeal which will keep him in now that he is in, the English Bluff bluff will be entirely forgotten or remembered only as an astute move in the game of politics as played by men of his loose views respecting statesmanship and government.

THE SAME OLD FOUR.

The outstanding feature of the Conservative nominating convention held last evening was not the selection of the late members, Messrs. McBride, Thomson, Behnson and Davey, as candidates, but the omission in the laudatory speeches of any reference to any service the faithful four have rendered their constituency during the three years they have represented the city of Victoria in the Legislature. The fact is well known that the candidates were not selected by the convention; the vote of the gathering merely formally ratified that which had already been decreed by the individual who keeps his hand constantly on the throttle of the machine.

No one need wonder that the chairman of the meeting, while not particularly noted for his delicate sensibilities, carefully avoided the subject of the valuable services rendered Victoria by the gallant quartette. No attempt at eulogy could have been possible without exciting a suspicion in the minds of the ex-members that the speaker was indulging in a few ironical pleasantries at their expense. The fact is well known that some of the candidates are much thinner in the skin than the skillful individual who moves them upon the board as pawns in the absorbing political game. They dread being lampooned either in words or pictures, and what could be more grotesque than references to the good work the four had done on behalf of the constituency they were elected, in a moment of extreme political aberration of obsession, to serve?

So none of the speakers had a word to say in defence of the course of the late members. Even Harry Helmcken, who is upon all occasions ready to move a vote of thanks to anybody and everybody, in doing his mechanical duty last night had to content himself with passing over the candidates and moving a vote of confidence in the government.

But the question that will be asked by the electors of Victoria, is what have Messrs. McBride, Thomson, Behnson and Davey done on behalf of Victoria that they should be elected for another term? That is a question which, we believe, will be asked a good many times during the progress of the campaign, and a reference to the railway policy of the government will not be considered a sufficient answer.

The people of Victoria are not extravagant in their views in regard to what they believe to be the just rights of their city. They do not ask for any consideration to which they are not legitimately entitled.

At the same time they realize that the times are strenuous; that rights which are not manfully maintained may be irretrievably lost; that there is much of the Old Adam or original human nature in the world; and that if our representatives sit like dummies in their places, not daring to assert themselves on our behalf, the representatives of other places will surely carry off everything they can lay their hands on.

That is precisely what has happened during the past three years. Not a finger can be pointed to anything that has been done for Victoria. During the McBride regime this city has been reduced to a position of humiliation in respect of many provincial institutions which are ours on legitimate grounds. These sins of omission on the part of our late representatives will be dealt with during the progress of the campaign. The Liberals have selected men capable of dealing with them, and of one thing we may be sure, not one of the old members will dare to show his face upon a public platform for the purpose of combatting the facts as set forth.

Harry Barnard, F. T. M. P., predicts that Hon. Richard McBride will yet be Prime Minister of Canada. If H. B., F. T. M. P., knows no more about the circumstances of the Conservative leadership than he does about the terms upon which the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is being constructed, his opinion is not of great value. Mr. Barnard is reported last night to have said that the Dominion government has given a guarantee of interest on the mountain section of that road which in seven years will amount to eleven million dollars. We suppose when an eminent F. T. M. P. is in the mood he might as well tell a whopper. Mr. Barnard must be underestimating Mr. Bowser.

The Colonist says that Mr. McBride has burned his ships behind him and has no means of escape. True. And what about the province that will be involved in the same conflagration? How will it escape from the consequences of the Premier's error? With the public credit threatened and the ships burned, what chance will the public have to escape?

The Colonist says that Mr. McBride says that the Manitoba guarantee to the Canadian Northern $8,000 a mile. The guarantee that Mr. McBride proposes to give the Canadian Northern is $35,000 a mile. Quite a difference, is it not? And why the difference?

New York, Nov. 4.—News leaked out late this afternoon that between late last night and to-day robbers aboard the Hamburg-American steamer Prince Joachim blew open the strong room safe, securing $50,000 in gold and escaped.

The gold had been delivered to Purser Adolph Roedel yesterday by the agent of a bank in Nova Scotia, and was consigned to banks at Kingston and Jamaica.

VICTORIA CITIZEN VISITS CHILLIWACK

Boom on Mainland is Fostered by Optimistic Spirit of Residents.

Arthur S. Barton, of the firm of Pemberton & Sons, of this city, has just returned from a combined pleasure and business trip to Chilliwack. While there he enjoyed several days shooting, getting good bags of pheasants and snipe.

Speaking of the business prospects in that part of the country, Mr. Barton says that Chilliwack and New Westminster are both booming. Around the former town the country is surveyed into city lots for miles, in view of the advent of the B. C. electric line. Property is changing hands, and there is a general movement. The people both there and at Westminster are all optimistic and are booming the places for all they are worth. People coming West are seized and very soon become carried away with the optimism of the place.

It is Mr. Barton's opinion that there must be a corresponding move here. The last boom that struck Victoria followed a similar movement on the mainland, and he thinks it is about due here now.

—Will meet you at the ball.

Are you fully satisfied with your last season's Printing?

Have your catalogues brought thoroughly satisfactory returns? Not "pretty fair," but really live, profitable results? Have your booklets been a source of pride and of profit to you? Or have you felt like apologizing whenever you mailed one out? We don't ask what you paid. If your advertising matter has been very successful, it was worth a fair cost. And if it was not distinctly successful, it cost you too much, whatever you paid for it. If your catalogues have compelled results, if your printer has been like a skilled partner in selling your goods, if his service has been fully satisfactory—

Stay with him. But, if your advertising matter has been merely commonplace, and your stationery hit or miss; if you have had to put up with delays when you needed catalogues; and with make-shifts due to incompetence or poor facilities when you needed powerful displays—Then you owe it to yourself to let Sweeney & McConnell demonstrate on your work the real selling value of their quality printing.

CONCERT GIVEN IN CENTENNIAL CHURCH

High-Class Entertainment Given in Aid of Organ Fund.

A concert was given last evening by the Centennial Methodist church choir, under the direction of F. Waddington, assisted by Mrs. Edward Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Longfield, and J. O. Dunford. The object of the concert was to bring before the members of the church and others the question of the new pipe organ and to report on the progress made towards the purchase of it.

During the interval in the musical programme W. N. Mitchell gave a short resume of the progress made up to date. He said that when the idea was first suggested of purchasing an organ to cost $4,000, the good people of the Gorge road church looked at him with blank astonishment and said it could not be done. Mr. Mitchell is, however, not only a man of great faith, but also of works; and consequently he set to work to show the Centennial people what could be done by systematic effort. He floated the Centennial Organ Company with 400 shares of $10 each, and has met with such success that the capital is already over-subscribed. Mr. Mitchell stated that the order for the organ has been placed, and it is expected that it will be installed sometime in March of next year. Messrs. Casavant Bros., of Quebec, with whom the order has been entrusted, being so busy that they could not promise it before that date.

The following is the programme of music which was tastefully rendered and well received:

Anthem—A Day in Thy Courts ..... McFarren
The Choir.
Song—A Song of Thanksgiving ..... Alderson
Mrs. Edward Parsons.
Duet—Ever Near Us ..... Franz Abt

The Choir.
Song—Beloved It Is Mine ..... F. Ayward
Mrs. Jesse Longfield.

Mr. Jesse Longfield.
Anthem—Through the Day ..... C. F. Naylor
The Choir.
God Save the King.
Accompanist—Miss Beck, Mr. Jesse Longfield and Mr. Edward Parsons.

After the concert refreshments were served in the schoolroom, which were partaken of by many and were much enjoyed.

—This evening at 5 o'clock H. K. Caskey, general secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in Canada, will meet the committee making arrangements for the Laymen's Missionary Conference to be held here on November 14th, 15th and 16th, in the Y.M.C.A. rooms.

RULES AND PLANS FOR MONDAY'S RACE

Seattle Derby Laws Will Govern Both the Events.

The race at the horse show building on Monday night next is to be run on Marathon rules as adopted by the Seattle Marathon last month.
All runners must pass the man in front by at least five feet, and must always pass from the outside. Infractions of this rule will render the competitor liable to disqualification. There will be one trainer allowed inside the ring for each competitor. Trainers can attend to one man only, and will not be allowed to speak to any runner besides his own man. With the exception of one trainer for each starter no other than the officials will be allowed in the ring. There will be a big score card stationed at the end of the building, on which the times for the various miles will be posted. Patrons will be provided with regular score cards with spaces set out to score off each lap and register the time for each mile.
The grounds will be lighted from the terraces to the building, so that patrons will be able to reach the building without difficulty.
C. E. Redfern has been appointed to act as an additional judge in company with Stephen Jones.
A special car service will run from 7:30 o'clock, and the race will be through by 10:30.

THE KING.

JOHNSON'S PLANS.
Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—Champion Jack Johnson arrived here yesterday to fill a short theatrical engagement in this city.
The big negro said that he was keeping in fine condition and would be in the best shape of his life when he met Jeffries. He also declared that there was no chance of his meeting Sam Langford or any other man until he had faced the alfalfa farmer in the ring.

STANDEN TO MEET MARINO.

Rod Standen, of Nanaimo, and Eddie Marino, the Seattle lightweight, have signed up for a fifteen-round meeting to take place at the North Vancouver pavilion November 15th. The boxers will weigh 136-pounds ring-side. Forfeits have been posted and J. T. Hewitt appointed referee.

BASKETBALL.

LEAGUE MEETS SATURDAY.
The annual meeting of the Victoria Baseball League will be held on Saturday night at the Y.M.C.A. commencing at 8 o'clock. All teams that are going to join must be represented at the meeting in each division. There was a misunderstanding between the officials as to the date of the meeting, but it has now been definitely fixed for Saturday night.

ANXIOUS TO ARRANGE FIGHT WITH JOHNSON

Manager of Sam Langford Says He Is in Earnest About Match.

(Times Leased Wire)
Boston, Nov. 4.—Joe Woodman, manager of Sam Langford, the "Boston demon," declares that he is in earnest about posting $10,000 as a side bet for "Boggar Sam" to meet Champion Jack Johnson, and he declares that if the Galveston negro was not bluffing when he said that he would fight Langford for that amount that the match would be made.
Woodman wants the match to be pulled off before the National Sporting Club of London, which he says will post a purse of $20,000. Langford's manager also believes that the negroes will draw better abroad.

BASEBALL.

CHICAGO TEAM.
(Times Leased Wire)
Chicago, Nov. 4.—Louis Comiskey, son of Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, will own the Denver club of the Western League next season, according to reports received here to-day.
The "old Roman" admits that he is anxious to get the franchise for his son, and has stated that for some time he has been negotiating with the present owners of the team.

FOOTBALL BREVITIES.

They are still talking about that goal Sam Lorimer, as referee gave to the A.O.F. last Saturday. It is the most interesting football topic round town this week.

The heart of Victoria West is glad. Seder walked down Government street yesterday afternoon in one of those new college boy hats, and his intimate friends who did not know of his return did not recognize him. He will be on the forward line Saturday against the A. O. F.

The A. O. F. will have a changed line up again Saturday. Miller and one other new man are to play. A. O. F. supporters say these are bright particular stars and will prove a bump for the Victoria West eleven to overcome.

The Victoria West A. O. F. match will be played at Oak Bay as there is a Rugby game at the Royal park. The ground will be neutral and of no particular advantage to either team.
The Garrison and James Bay teams meet Saturday at the Garrison ground, when the enthusiasts of the barracks and the navy yard, who will be the only attendants at the game, will see a clash of teams equally balanced.

Sam Lorimer is urgently requested by the Bays to unfold some of those natty little tricks he learnt in "Frisco for the Bays on Saturday. This will be his first appearance since the voyage except as referee. He was referee last Saturday, only the A. O. F. players say he was alleged to have been referee.

That goal net story has happened just as predicted. Had there been goal nets at Royal Park last Saturday the referee would not have had to look for footmarks from the centre of the field.

Victoria West was a down hearted team at half time last Saturday when the Garrison had slipped a goal through and held the Wests down to no score. Three to one at the finish showed the Western team still had a little bit left to add to what they had used.

The Thistles are leading Vancouver league with three wins and one loss, while the Shamrocks are next and then three teams are bunched for third.

Esquimalt soccer players try on Saturday. They declare they will go to the Garrison ground to watch the Bays' captain appeal should there be a disputed goal.

Downie was right off form last Saturday. Hill played against him had 90 per cent. the best of the afternoon. Clegg on the A. O. F. forward line was not an improvement on the team.

Dunn in goal for Esquimalt worked like an old soldier and stood the battering of shots with a solid front. He undoubtedly saved the day for his team.

Once during the game A. O. F. hit the air with a terrific shot and once Dunn showed off a swift one with his hands that was surely a goal with another half inch.

They say Pearson will leave Victoria shortly. It will be Victoria's loss as Pearson is the best centre forward on the island when he gets the necessary support.

Soccer here is improving. There have been some of the fastest games ever played here since this season. Steady training will always improve the game and finally get the crowd.

INSANITY GROUND FOR ACTION.

New York, Nov. 4.—By proving that he was insane on November 16th, Robert E. Smith expects to make a profit of $75,000. On that date he had an agreement to purchase a piece of New York business property which has increased since $75,000 in value. He did not keep his agreement to make the purchase and now sues, declaring that through no fault of his own, he was insane. The court has ordered that if he can prove that he was insane and under restraint on that date, the person with whom he made the agreement must sell him the property at the price stipulated.

AWARDED SUB-CONTRACTS FOR ALBERNI LINE

Calgary Firm Splits Up Work With Vancouver Men to Expedite Job.

Messrs. Janse, McDonnell & Timony, contractors for the last section of the Alberni extension of the E. & N., have awarded to J. B. Bright, of Vancouver, the sub-contract for a ten-mile section, from a point near Cameron Lake west to the summit. McDonald & McAllister, and Holley, Owens & Mackenzie each secured two mile sections.

The contractors are now building a permanent highway, five miles long, around one side of Cameron Lake, as a portion of the present highway will be followed by the proposed line. Although the road, according to the terms of the contract, does not have to be completed before April 1911, the contractors expect to finish the job six months sooner.

There is great rejoicing at Port Alberni at the evidence that the C. P. R. is determined to complete the rail connection to the West Coast at the earliest possible date and it is reported that there is a renewal of activity in real estate transactions. Local dealers in Alberni property say that they are daily in receipt of inquiries respecting properties at the coming metropolis of the West Coast.

ITALIANS ROBBED.

Relieved of Cash by Bandits Who Represented Themselves as Government Agents.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 4.—Representing themselves to be officers of the government, four bandits entered a shanty occupied by fifty Italian laborers and held up the men, securing nearly $1,000 in cash. One by one the laborers were ordered from the building and relieved of his money and valuables, afterward being bound with ropes.
The Italians were employed on construction on a trolley line. The bandits escaped and no trace of them so far has been received.

DIES AFTER FOOTBALL GAME.

Crawfordville, Ind., Nov. 4.—Harry Houston, 19 years old, fell dead of heart failure as the result of over-exertion during a football game here Tuesday afternoon. He suffered fainting spells after a scrimmage and complained of pains in the region of his heart. Other players assisted him from the ground, Houston succumbed a few minutes later. Steps will be taken it is said, to abolish football among high school players here.
There is only one sudden death among women to every eight among men.

SHOES THAT "TALK."

The Creaking Kind Preferred by the African Native.

The east coast African, buying shoes, is less concerned with fit or style than with a quality the white man ignores, or, at worst, wishes to, if he cannot. That is, the squeak.

"Do they talk proper loud?" inquires the ingenious native, first of all; and if they do not "talk" he will not buy. In the south seas it is the same with the bronze man as in Africa with the black. Perhaps it is only a natural desire for harmony in the attire, for his other articles of dress, although seldom numerous, are frequently also "loud." The preparations of a native crew about to receive shore leave are amusingly described by a passenger.

"Tapitua, who is a great dandy, puts two gold earrings in one ear and fastens a wreath of cock's feathers about his hat. Kodd, christened George, gets into a thick blue woolen jersey, very suitable for Antarctic weather, a scarlet and yellow parca or kilt, and a pair of English shoes which make him limp terribly; but they are splendid sneakers."

"To put on three different singlets, a pink, a blue and a yellow—turning up the edges carefully so as to present a fine display of layered colors, like a Neapolitan ice, and gums the gaudy label christening himself with the imposing title of 'Our Real Raspberry.'"

"Neo is wearing two hats and three neck handkerchiefs.
"Oki has a P. & O. ribbon and Union Steamship Company's jersey, besides a three-penny piece in the hollow of each ear. Truly we are a gay party by the time we are ready to land."

So certain are the islanders to select squeaking shoes that many clever manufacturers now put special squeakers into goods intended for the island trade.

The value of shoe music was recently amusingly impressed upon a good-natured visitor who presented some shoe polish to a native friend, whom he had found mournfully contemplating the fast fading glories of his footwear.

The native departed, grateful and overjoyed, but inquiry a day later proved that the gift had not accomplished all that was expected of it.

"Shod feathers shine again, all right," explained the recipient, figuratively, "but shoes don't sing."

RUSSIA'S DEATH TOLL.

Over a Thousand Persons Condemned in Last Nine Months.

One thousand and thirty-eight persons were condemned to death throughout European Russia during the first nine months of the present year and 47 of them were executed, according to official figures. No attempt was made by the government to conceal the figures, but such comment as gives them their real significance would certainly not be passed by the censorship.

Unofficially and absolutely trustworthy information shows that since September 30th the number of condemnations has increased rapidly and in the past three weeks the country is averaging seven daily, of which half are executed.

It is estimated that 150,000 persons in Germany earn their living in connection with music.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

This is the age of research and experiment, when all nature's secrets are being unlocked by the scientific method. The comfort and happiness of man, science has indeed made great strides during the past century, and among the by no means least important discoveries in medicine comes that of THERAPY.
The preparation of medicine is one of the most delicate and reliable Patent Medicines ever introduced, and has, we understand, been used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Jobert, Velpeau, Maisonneuve, the well-known Chassagnac, and indeed by all who are regarded as authorities in such matters, including the celebrated Lallemand and Roux, by whom it was some time since uniformly adopted, and that is worthy the attention of those who require such a remedy. We think there is no doubt. From the time of Aristotle downwards, a potent agent in the removal of these diseases has been the famous philosopher's stone, the object of search of some hopeful, gnomes and alchemists, and far beyond the narrow power of gold ever has been discovered, of transmuting the base metals into gold is surely the discovery of a remedy so potent and powerful, and in the other respect, so speedy and safe to expedite from the system all those venereal diseases that were formerly the sole reliance of the principal chemists and medical men of the world, as to leave no trace of their existence. Such is
THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY THERAPY.
while many are in rank with it, if not take possession of many of the discoveries of the age, which as little attention and noise have been made, and the extensive and ever-increasing demand has been created for this medicine, or whoever introduced appears to prove that it is destined to cast into oblivion all those venereal diseases that were formerly the sole reliance of the principal chemists and medical men of the world, as to leave no trace of their existence. Such is
THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY THERAPY.

The convention then proceeded to ballot, and on the first ballot Messrs. Drury, Houston and Munst were the highest number of votes and far more than a majority of the electors present.

On motion of Ald. Fullerton, who was a very close fourth, seconded by Mr. Van Munster, the nomination was made unanimous.

Leader Speaks

"Our opponents tell us Liberalism is practically dead in the province," said Mr. Oliver, who spoke during the counting of the ballots. "It is just about as true as their average statements in this campaign. (Hear, hear.) No more effective contradiction could be given to the statement than the presence of Victoria Liberals here in such numbers."

"I have to thank you for the honor of nominating me as one of your candidates, something I could not reasonably have expected and yet I feel it is one of the recompenses that come to a man who has faithfully tried to serve the public. (No one deserves it better, came from an elector.)"

"I see some of our friends are anxious about local option. I believe reforms in this respect must begin largely with the individual. I am getting too old to believe that you are going to make good by act of parliament. At the same time I believe in the principle of self-government, which is along the lines of true Liberalism, and I believe it is in the interest of the community that that principle shall be applied wherever practicable, whether with regard to local option, whether in regard to municipal institutions of what not. The principle is a good one, it is the foundation of democratic institutions, and experience has shown it is always safe to trust the people. If they make mistakes they have to pay the penalty, and it is a means of gathering experience."

"I believe in local self-government in regard to municipal affairs and I would point out that the present administration has taken away a measure of self-government from the municipalities. You have a cumbersome, unworkable municipal act, full of technicalities, of legal pit-falls, making it impossible for a man to do anything for a community without being dragged to court. I want to see it simplified and when the powers of a municipality are laid down let it settle the details."

"You have had the burden of maintaining schools added to your municipal burdens, but can any man tell me where the government has given any corresponding increase of revenue? We have heard a great deal of better terms for the municipalities, to enable them to carry the burdens imposed on them. We proposed two years ago that the power of assessing and taxing personal property be transferred to the municipalities. The government invoked the speaker's aid to throw our resolution out. Last session we renewed our proposal and one of the ministers got up and admitted the income of the municipalities was not sufficient, but the government failed to do anything to remedy that. If you do your duty and elect a Liberal government one of our first acts will be to pass an act to transfer that personal property tax to the municipalities, where it belongs. (Cheers.)"

"Speaking for myself and not for the party of which I am leader, I am prepared to advocate going further and transferring even revenue taxes to the municipalities. I hold, and I believe I can demonstrate it, that the resources of this province, if administered economically and in a business-like fashion will produce ample revenue for the requirements of the province for generations to come. I think it far better to provide the municipalities with adequate revenue from within rather than for the government to collect the money and then hand it back, as they do to-day, in the shape of bribes for political support."

Indian Reserve Deception.

"Let me call to your attention what was done one week before last election. For the purpose of influencing that election the government handed over to the city by order-in-council, the revolutionary rights in some 45 acres of the Songhees reserve. They allowed the people to believe that they were getting something of value. I stand here to tell you, and there is no legal gentleman but will tell you, that the order-in-council was made without any statutory authority behind it and cannot be enforced, simply because it is not worth the paper it is written on. I will undertake to meet the premier before an audience in Victoria and maintain my statement that the government of British Columbia has made it impossible for the Dominion government to settle that Indian reserve question. (Hear, hear.)"

"I will make another proposition to you. I will undertake to meet the premier and demonstrate to a Victoria audience that in the case he put before the people for better terms he misstated the figures by twenty-five million dollars. You may say that are big words but I have not dug into the records for nothing and I have the facts ready when the premier meets me."

"In the Victoria theatre the night previous to last election the attorney-general stated that the Liberals had entered into an agreement with the G. T. P. to bring $50,000 to work on the construction of the line. I will not take more time than to say that that statement was absolutely false, and the attorney-general knew it was false when he made it. He made it to rob the Liberals of their reputation. He was the lawyer of the Contractor Gotoh, it was Mr. Bowser's personal and political friends who were associated with the contractor and at the time he made the statement he knew that a contract had been made to bring Japs here with the C. P. R. and the president of the Wellington Colliery Company, and not with the G. T. P. as he said. You can go to the registrar-general's office in the courthouse and for 25 cents see the articles of incorporation of Gotoh's firm with the stamp on the back of Bowser and Wallbridge. (Laughter and applause.)"

"These men have been going through the province and shouting themselves hoarse for a white British Columbia and the people have taken them at their face value. I doubt if the intelligent electors of Victoria will take them so much longer. (Hear, hear.)"

Asiatic Labor.

"In the session of 1908, when there was a bill to grant the Esquimalt & Nanaimo exemption. Mr. Henderson moved that this be granted on condition that no Asiatic labor be employed during construction or the time of exemption. Every Conservative voted it down, including the members for Victoria. When the bill giving exemption to the G. T. P. and confirming the grant of the Prince Rupert townsite—which, by the way, the premier claims great credit for—was brought in, it was brought in millions—we made a similar proposition. The premier said the Dominion government would disallow it. He put in a clause that the wages paid should be the current rate of wages in the district. We wanted the word 'white' put in, so that the wages would be the current wages paid to white workmen. Again they shouted white and voted yellow, voted it down and would not let it go in. The other night in Vancouver two of the men who shouted white and voted yellow had the audacity to say they had put in a clause in the agreement which prevented yellow labor being employed. There is no such clause and they prevented it going in. You have seen great promises given to a rumor lately that the G. T. P. were asking permission to use Japs. There has been no such request made and the Ottawa government has no intention of relaxing the regulations. The labor unions give proof that the very regulations they and Conservative speakers claim to be useless are thoroughly effective in that they beseeched Ottawa not to relax them."

"I do not believe in persecuting any man because of his color, but I stand here and say that in the thirty years I have been in British Columbia, as any intelligent man can demonstrate, at no time has any action of a British Columbia government been effective in restricting the immigration or employment of Asiatics. At this time there has been a law on the statute-books which has been a dead-letter but which could have been used, and used very effectively."

"We have a Public Health Act. Under that we can require that the dwellings of every person shall be safe and clean and healthy, built in the way in which white men's homes are built, with ample egress in case of fire, built in a sanitary manner."

Liberal Pledge.

"The Liberal party stands pledged to a platform, to see that places are fit for human abode and are not fire-traps. We propose to make a live law and to see that these people shall not live under insanitary conditions. We shall say to them: 'You come to live in a white man's country, you come into competition with the white men. You have all the privileges and protection of white men and we believe that you should live up to a white man's standard.' (Prolonged cheers.)"

"I am just going to point out to you what this simple fact of enforcing legislation now on the statute-books is going to mean. You know that out of every four dollars these men make they send three dollars out of the country, and that is a great drain. If these men have to live in insanitary conditions, and in conditions which every thrifty, industrious man is entitled to live in, and we will compel them to live up to the standard of the average white workingman—we will be compelling them to spend three dollars out of every four in this country instead of one in four. (Renewed cheers.) We decrease their power of competition to that extent. And they will benefit themselves by being made to live in cleanly surroundings."

"It is quite plain that we have a great many men here actuated by a spirit of moral reform. Can they conceive of any way of coping with these dens of filth and iniquity than by enforcing the health laws, which will give the police access to every room in the house for sanitary inspection. You recall the frequent occasions on which white girls are found in Chinese resorts in a state of stupefaction, simply a prey to these beasts from the Orient. Can you conceive of these things existing in British Columbia if you had a government which was doing its duty? I do not believe it would exist if the law officer of the crown or his assistants were alive to their duty. (Applause.)"

Political Wind Bag.

"We have to-day on the platform going through this province an attorney-general, who can coin and utter more words per minute than any man on the continent of America, a gentleman who has had the benefit of a legal training and a university education, and along certain lines, a man of great ability. What about the administration of justice in British Columbia? While he has been following a policy of fighting Ottawa on every conceivable pretext—and, by the way, he has never won a point in any of his cases—he has been going on in the province."

"Is it a fact that the Indian who murdered two men at Hazelton is still at large? Is it a fact that the bandits who held up a C. P. R. train and murdered Constable Decker are still at large? Is it a fact that the man who fired a shot at Vernon whereby eleven men lost their lives is still at large? Is it true that the men who committed the Midway murder and the murder at Silver Creek a short time ago have not yet been apprehended? Are these facts, and if facts are they not the strongest indictment which could be put forward against the administration of justice in British Columbia? (Applause.)"

Premier's Railway Policy.

"A gentleman remarked to me the other day that elections are coming as thick as before we had party government; that it has not given us the stability that was expected. What is the reason for dissolution now? The premier once told us he was going to have a summer session to deal with railway matters and here the railway policy comes at the beginning of winter and six years after. We have a railway policy presented to us. What does it amount to? The premier tells us he is bringing a transcontinental railway to the coast, the Canadian Northern. I thought a transcontinental line was one that ran from one side of the continent to the other. Can any one tell me where the C. N. R. starts? Is it on the Atlantic seaboard or at the great lakes? And when it starts at the great lakes does it run through Canada or through the States in part? And what sort of a railway is it? When a new transcontinental line was talked of and it was suggested. Engineers went out to inspect it and see if it was fit for such use, absolutely rejected it, said it would have to be rebuilt before it could be a transcontinental line. It starts at the great lakes and runs to Edmonton."

"According to the premier, not only will we have a mortgage on the line in British Columbia, but on the whole line and its revenues. Take the line in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, where they have guaranteed bonds to the extent of $12,000 a mile, not $35,000 like the McBride contract, and have taken a first mortgage not only on the road bed and rolling stock, but on the tolls and all the earnings of the road. Can anyone tell me what there is left for the province of British Columbia in the way of security there?"

Parallel Line.

"What is the railway so far as British Columbia is concerned? Coming in at Yellowhead Pass it parallels the G. T. P. for 50 miles. The Dominion has invested a great amount of money in that road. Are they going to subsidize another road to compete for fifty miles side by side with the road they have already heavily subsidized? It would not be business-like nor could it be expected. Then the line is to run for 200 miles along the Thompsons through new country to Kamloops and then for 250 miles to Kamloops the C. P. R., sometimes on one side of the river, sometimes on the other."

"The Attorney-General claims that even if there is a paralleling the endorsement of $21,000,000 bonds is justifiable in order to secure a reduction in the C.P.R. tolls, which cannot be reduced under its charter until it is earning ten per cent. on its investment, which it never will reach."

"Let me ask, as a business proposition, if the railway commission, compels the C.N.R. to reduce rates to a point where it cannot pay the interest on its bonds, where is the benefit to British Columbia? The benefit we get out of reduced rates will be paid out of the treasury; we will get rich by shifting money from one pocket to another. If the C.N.R. teaches a common point on the coast by opening up new country and not paralleling the C.P.R. there would be the same control of rates and the same competition. But the government thinks the people of British Columbia will be led away to endorse the guarantee of bonds of a railway running just beside an old-established line for 250 miles."

"Let me call your attention to another thing. For this guarantee of $21,000,000 bonds we are to get 300 miles of railway on the Mainland and 100 miles on the Island through new territory. If you trace on a map the existing lines south of the main line of the G.T.P. you will find it is not 300 miles which will be needed to develop that territory, but 3,000. If the province is going to pledge $21,000,000 of credit for 300 miles how much will they have to pledge before they develop the whole province south of the G.T.P.?"

"Mr. Van Munster can find lots of 10-year-olds in his class who can answer that simple proposition. The credit of 300,000 people can never be held good for credits extending to three hundred millions. That aid promised to the C.N.R. can never be extended to the rest of the province."

No Sectionalism.

"Somewhere back in my childhood I had knocked into me some idea of justice, and I want to say to you that a statesman does not recognize localities. (Applause.) He looks at the whole map and when he is framing a policy does so along lines which will result in benefit to the whole country. I thank you for the honor of nominating me unambiguously, but I want to point out to you that if we are entrusted with the administration of affairs the government will know no sectionalism; that we will develop the whole of British Columbia just as fast and fairly as it is possible to develop it. (Cheers.)"

"You will see in the railway policy that we have advocated for the development of this province that we know no sectionalism. While we propose to aid a line from Vancouver Island to Port George we also propose to aid lines to the northern end of the Island. You will find on a map I used before dissolution was announced that we propose aid by province and Dominion to the line to Barkley Sound. You will find outlined and spoken of by me a proposition to aid a line from Campbell river by Johnstone Strait or Bute Inlet to connect with the G.T.P., and this is what the people of Victoria want. (Applause.)"

"The people of Victoria are not churlish. You have the finest steamer on the coast plying between your city and Vancouver, the train terminus. You have the best service that money can give. I ask you, as sensible men, if this railway is built to English Bluffs, that any company is going in there to build an artificial harbor, 'exposed to the storms of the Gulf,' for the purpose of putting on a car ferry when they can go into the mouth of the Fraser or any one of the deep water harbors. Take the Colonist of the day of dissolution and you will find from their map that the car ferry is laid out to come to Sidney."

"Does the premier expect you to endorse such a policy after your previous experience? In 1898, on June 15th, was signed a contract which I had in my hand to-day for a railway to be built from this same English Bluff through the Hope mountains to the boundary. Since then a good many millions of British Columbia's wealth have gone to build up cities and towns across the line. That contract was based on the authority of the legislature, and was as effective as it could be made, and was signed by Mackenzie & Mann. Where is the railway? There was an election and they had to have a railway policy, and Mackenzie & Mann were Johnny-on-the-spot with the policy. In 1902, after Premier McBride withdrew his support from the Dunsmuir ministry and formed an opposition and an election became imminent, the first thing they did was to run to Montreal for a railway policy. They got it. Who were the contractors? Again Mackenzie & Mann were on the spot. They are always ready, and so you have another of Mackenzie & Mann's contracts on your hands to-day."

Experience to Go By.

"The government tell you you will not have to pay a dollar of that guarantee, but what right have they to say so? What is their record with railway guarantees? The Shuswap & Okanagan runs from Sicamous to Vernon, with the whole C. P. R. at one end, going through a beautiful valley, with 100 miles of lake fringed with a rich country to act as a feeder at the other end. It is a road of fifty miles in length, and in the seventeen years that we have been contracting here on their bonds we have paid $387,000, or nearly $8,000 a mile, and it has eight years more to run."

"The Nakusp & Slocan railway has also a guarantee of four per cent. on its bonds, and in sixteen years we have had to pay $131,000."

"The Victoria & Sidney runs for eighteen miles through a rich district of this island, and on its bonds we guarantee two per cent, while the city guarantees three. I do not know what the city has paid, but the province has paid $34,000 in sixteen years on that guarantee."

"In face of all this experience they still tell you they can guarantee these bonds to the extent of $21,000,000, making an annual charge of $40,000 a year, and that you will never have to pay a dollar on your guarantee. Can you believe that? (Not much.)"

"We have put forth a policy for the development of the whole line. In the case of the C. N. R. down the North Thompson and on the Hope mountains we would be prepared to assist them and we stand by that to-day. But I want to tell you that the G. T. P. have surveyed and plans over the same route and I am informed on the best of authority that the G. T. P. will be here at the coast before the C. N. R. (Applause.) The G. T. P. is prepared to contract any day to build for reasonable cash subsidy, in connection with the Dominion subsidy if it goes through Hope mountain. The policy we have put before the people is one of co-operation with the Dominion government. (Hear, hear.)"

"During the six years the McBride government has been in they have not secured the building of one mile of railway. In the same period the Dominion government by contract of subsidy have provided for 1,700 miles. (Cheers.) I made that statement in Nelson and the Conservative paper there said these lines were no more good to the province than if they were in Quebec. That is the attitude of the government and it has never tried to secure the building of any of the 1,000 miles of line for which there is a Dominion subsidy by giving reasonable aid. I will except the case of the Kettle River Valley, but I will ask why, if the government can secure the building of the C. N. R. without the expenditure of a dollar, did they not secure the building of the Kettle Valley in the same way instead of by subsidy? (Hear, hear.)"

"It is not time to deal with many other matters I would like to have discussed. By allowing our lands and timber to pass into the hands of alien speculators the government is permitting a state of affairs to grow up which is resulting in our natural wealth going to build up other countries. When these resources are exhausted what are we going to have to replace them? We want a government which will have a policy leading to re-investment of that wealth within the province in productive enterprises, so that when these resources become more or less exhausted we shall have other sources of wealth to take their places."

"If we are returned to power we shall try to frame our administration and legislation along lines that will develop the province. We shall try to administer the affairs of this province that instead of making millionsaires we will give every thrifty, honest, industrious man a chance to share in the wealth of the province and benefit from its development. (Cheers.)"

The convention closed with cheers for the leader and the singing of the National Anthem.

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS

HEAR MONTH'S REPORTS

Gratifying Conditions Prevailed in All Departments During October.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening in the association rooms, the following being present: C. A. Fields, W. M. Mitchell, A. B. Fraser, W. Scowcroft, E. W. Whittington and A. J. Brace, general secretary. In the absence of R. B. McKicking, the president, Mr. Fraser occupied the chair. A great deal of business was discussed before the meeting adjourned.

The committee which made all arrangements for the Bryan lecture give a most gratifying report in regards the lecture. After all bills had been paid they reported having $155 as clear profit. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. David Spencer, Moss street, who gave a reception to Mr. Bryan at her home during his visit here. The committee was thanked and discharged.

The general secretary, A. J. Brace, reported that the second payment on the new building was due and that 1,300 letters had been sent out informing all subscribers. It was also learned that $4,000 of the second payment had already been paid. If this payment comes in as readily as the first the new building will be started within two months. Employment had been found for 20 men during the past month and 16 had been found longings.

W. G. Findlay, physical instructor, states in his report that 729 men had attended the gymnasium classes during the past month. Medical examinations are being conducted by Dr. Babby once a week, and Dr. Wasson is taking a class on first aid to the injured. An indoor athletic test is being conducted by the physical department and it is proving quite an interesting addition to the gymnasium exercises.

The religious work committee's report showed that a very interesting conference on religious work had been held with C. W. Bishop, college secretary for Western Canada. In the report it was also stated that the Sunday afternoon men's meetings were being held with marked success. A series of local option talks have been arranged and some of the best speakers on this subject have been secured.

With reference to the social committee's report it was found that the opening social of the association held recently was a great success. It had also been arranged by the committee to have one of its members present each evening to welcome everyone to the association.

The membership committee's report was received with enthusiasm. It stated that 37 new members had been admitted to the association during the month. Twenty-four of these were for the men's department, while the remainder were for the boys'.

A most pleasing report was received from the boys' work committee in which it was stated that the boys' department was now well organized under the cabinet system. A basketball league and harriers' club have been formed which will prove of great interest to the boys. A membership contest has been commenced in this department with a view of getting 75 new members into the association.

The last report heard was that of the literary committee. The members of it have decided to form a mock city council this year instead of the mock parliament held last year. An oratory contest will mark the opening of the council on December 1st, the subject to be spoken on being, "The Future of Victoria." Gold and silver medals will be given the winners. D. W. Higgins, who last year acted as speaker in the mock parliament, will help organize the council.

E. Piper, chairman of the games committee, stated that he had under way a chess tournament, the opening game to be played on Saturday evening next. The contest is open to all members of the Y. M. C. Medals have been kindly donated by J. Jardine, M. P. F., and J. C. McIntosh, and will be presented to the winners.

SUBMARINES FOR DREADNOUGHTS

German Admiral Thinks Them as Efficient and More Economical.

Vice-Admiral Galtier has published another urgent appeal to the German nation to build submarines instead of battleships, declaring that they are more suitable to the particular needs of Germany, besides being far more economical than Dreadnoughts.

The vice-admiral writes: "Submarines of moderate size which can steam 1,000 knots, and submarines of larger size which can steam 3,000 knots, would provide us with the means of combating large hostile battleships not only in the vicinity of our own coasts, but also near the enemy's ports. Submarines with only their periscopes extending are practically immune from battleships and cruisers, because shots would only strike the periscopes by chance, and would not touch the submerged hull."

After reviewing the remarkably successful results obtained with submarines in the recent French naval maneuvers, which took place in May and June, Vice-Admiral Galtier proceeds: "The submarine produces the fighting value of a battleship, even if the latter is being built with larger and larger dimensions."

"Submarines promote peace, because they increase to a remarkable degree the risks of every attack. They cannot be combated with any real success, and the number of hostile ships only increases their opportunities of effective operations. The creations of a great fleet is very expensive, and no longer appears advisable.

"Thirty submarines can be built for the price of one battleship, and the submarines have a great value not only as defensive but as offensive weapons."

Vice-Admiral Galtier believes that by making submarines the chief weapon of naval warfare Germany could reorganize her finances any at the same time dispel British suspicions now excited by the rapid construction of German Dreadnoughts.

COST OF MODERN BATTLESHIP

DREADNOUGHT WORTH TEN MILLION DOLLARS

What a Broadside Will Do in Way of Destruction.

Less than four years ago there began to be talk of a mysterious ship—a Dreadnought—that was being built with great secrecy and the utmost speed at Portsmouth, which was to be quite unlike any battleship ever built before, and would cost when fitted and complete nearly $2,000,000. To-day we speak glibly of improved Dreadnoughts, and two types of improved and larger vessels have been designed, of which the larger type is well advanced in construction.

The Dreadnought was, none the less, an epoch-making experiment. Every one whose knowledge could be of use, from Lord Kelvin to the navigating expert, was consulted, and the broad outlines devised from which the plans were prepared in detail by Sir Philip Watts, says the London Daily Mail.

A few of the details in which the Dreadnought differs from the preceding types, which may be noted by visitors, are her thicker armor, turbine engines, breadth of beam, and her large armament of ten 12-inch guns. This was also the first type of battleship in which the men carried aft and astidships and the officers forward, so as to be near the bridge.

Previous types of battleships had doors connecting the various watertight compartments, doors which had to be shut if any compartment was damaged beneath the water line; the Dreadnought is completely divided into five compartments, five separate floating fortresses unconnected beneath the water line. There are no medium-power guns; besides the ten 12-inch guns there are twenty-seven, while the improved Dreadnoughts, the Superb, Temeraire, and Heliophon, have sixteen 4-inch.

The cost of the Dreadnought and vessels of her type is put at between $1,700,000 and $1,800,000, but when fitted and completed the Dreadnought is said to have cost about $2,000,000.

It has been estimated that to the hull, fittings and equipment over $800,000 may be apportioned, to the boiler and machinery over $300,000, to the searchlight and electrical fittings $50,000, and to the motor and steamboats $8,000.

Of the armament, the five barbettes, each with two 12-inch guns, cost $100,000 apiece.

Of the total cost it is reckoned that about $1,350,000 is paid in wages.

The shattering effect of the projectile from a great gun is almost inconceivable.

Taking the 12-inch gun of the Dreadnoughts as an example, it throws a shot weighing more than one-third of a ton (850 lbs.), and as this starts from the muzzle it will pass clean through 4½ feet of wrought iron. By the time it reaches an enemy's ship, 3,000 yards away, it still has sufficient force to pierce 3 feet 2½ inches of wrought iron.

Steel armor being more than twice as hard as iron, the thickness penetrated at 3,000 yards is about 17 inches.

The effect of these guns, which in one round each can throw about three tons of metal, can be imagined.

One of the monster 12-inch guns of the Dreadnoughts, whose total length is 51½ feet, would easily throw its projectile from Epsom to London, and it is said that the projectile would go as far as twenty-three miles.

At this great distance, of course, the striking power is very small, little more than the dead-weight of the shell.

The really effective range when fighting against modern armored ships is about four miles. But a 12-inch gun can inflict immense damage up to double this distance.

It sends off the projectile at a velocity of about 1,000 yards a second.

The ten 12-inch guns of the Dreadnought type cost about $10,000 apiece, but when they are mounted it is estimated that a barrette with two 12-inch guns costs about $100,000, while the cost of firing each shell may be reckoned at $100.

The 12-pounders cost about $350 apiece and their shells about 5s. Allowing eighty rounds per gun, the ammunition required for the ten 12-inch guns of the Dreadnought type of battleship weighs about 300 tons.

The submerged torpedo tubes each cost $3,000, and each torpedo about $500. This projectile is nearly 20 feet long and about 18 inches in diameter, and is driven by a tiny propeller worked by compressed air contained in its centre. It will keep an undeviating course for about a mile, and a quarter, and contains about 200 lbs. of gun-cotton.

The submarines of the British navy are properly called "submarines," because of the manner in which they sink below the surface. The method is, in a certain degree, described in the "A. B. C. of the Royal Navy."

When about to dive a British submarine flips her ballast tanks with water until she is almost submerged, or, as seamen say, "awash."

The petrol engines are stopped, as they would quickly consume all the available air, and the electric engine is set running. Then, by means of the down rudder, the boat is pushed out, and the engine stops she rises to the surface again.

In the case of a submarine proper, she must remain under water until some of her ballast is pumped out.

There are big prizes in the service, and an admiral of the fleet enjoys an income of £6 a day, with about as much more when on active service.

The other officers receive the following salaries:

Captain, £12s. 6d. to £112s. per day, besides "command money," when flying the pennant of £2s. to 15s. per day.

Commander, £11 per day, with 2s. 6d. to 2s. 9d. extra for certain duties.

Lieutenant, 10s. to 17s. per day, with a substantial increase if he qualifies for special duties.

A boy, entering the navy between the ages of 15½ and 15¾, commences at 3s. 6d. a week, besides free rations. As he advances to the first class his pay rises to 4s. 1d. Thence onward the scales are:

Ordinary seaman, 8s. 9d.
Able seaman, 11s. 8d.
Leading seaman, 12s. 10d. to 14s.

Petty officer, 18s. 3d. to 21s.
Chief petty officer, 23s. 4d. to 25s.

When he is promoted to warrant rank his yearly salary is considerable, namely:

Gunner, £100 to £164.
Boatswain, £100 to £164.
Chief gunner or chief boatswain, £138 to £219.

In addition to pay the naval men get bedding and an allowance for outfit.

For each good conduct badge, up to three, he receives 7d. per week, and he can earn additional pay by qualifying in special branches.

CHEST INFLAMMATION
Suffered From a Heavy Cold,
Pleuritic Pains in Side—Constant Coughing.

"Nervine" Cured Quickly.

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nervine cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Von Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton.

"My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh racking cough and severe pains darted through my sides."

Settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments, but none broke up my cold till I used Nervine. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared.

Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferro-China at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nervine I have no more colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

It's because Nervine contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica and rheumatism. CHOKED BY COLLAR BUTTON.
Earl Coombs, aged 5, of Cincinnati, swallowed a collar button and choked to death before the arrival of a physician, who was summoned. Coroner Coen, on investigation, found that the button had lodged in the boy's windpipe, completely closing it and resulting in death from asphyxiation.

CHURCHILL ON HOUSE OF LORDS

SAYS GOVERNMENT
SEEKS NO PARLEY

Speech at Dundee by the President of Board of Trade.

Winston Churchill, M. P., president of the board of trade, concluded his visit to his constituents at Dundee by addressing a large Liberal demonstration in the Kinnaird hall. In the course of his speech he laid emphasis on the following points:

"The Lords have used their veto in party interests, class interests, and personal interests with an utter unconcern for the public welfare or great moral and social causes."

"The custom of three hundred years forbids the intrusion of the House of Lords upon finance bills."

"The government seek no parley, they offer no compromise, and will make no bargain. Let the Lords stand aside."

Mr. Churchill, who was received with musical honors, discussed the budget, which, he said, was by far the boldest effort which had been made in living memory to produce a better social organization for the masses of the people. (Cheers.)

Looking back over the past year, he said if every citizen to reflect that the peace of Europe had been preserved in spite of every kind of scare, and that these conditions were much less likely to be disturbed than some of the notheads were inclined to imagine. (Cheers.)

The union of South Africa (cheers), about which their Imperial friends had dreamed so long, and which had been so often, was now an accomplished fact. (Cheers.)

The reconciliation of the Dutch and the British races under the crown had been achieved. It was pleasant to reflect that those events had reached their culmination in the lifetime of that distinguished Afrikaner, Mr. Hofmeyr. (Cheers.)

The Chinese laborer would all be gone in January (cheers), and they would leave behind them the gold mines in a condition of unexampled prosperity.

The Government Record.

No one looking back, continued Mr. Churchill, over the last four years had any reason to feel ashamed of the record of his Majesty's government. (Cheers.)

Although, from causes beyond our control, we have not been able satisfactorily to settle the problems of education and licensing, no lover of progress who surveys the statute book as it stands to-night and contrasts that statute book with its condition in 1905 need feel that we have great communities have benefited.

The trade unionist, as he surveys his organization freed from the injury done it by previous judicial decisions; the miner, whose cage brings him to the surface of the ground after eight hours of labor (cheers); the aged pensioner, when he goes to the post office to draw his weekly pension (cheers); the Irish Roman Catholic, who sees the range of a university career thrown open to his sons; the child who is protected in the street and in his home; the peasant who finds it easier to acquire a small parcel of land which he needs for his individual exertions; the youthful offender in prison (cheers); the citizen who takes his seat on the county bench not debarré by a property qualification; the servant who has been injured in domestic service—all these bear witness to the workings of an active and tireless humanitarian effort. (Cheers.)

Dangers at Home.

Continuing, he said, that he had no disposition to sit still, but only felt a vehement impulse to press on.

"What was the greatest danger that threatened our country and Empire? It was not to be found overseas. (Cheers.) 'It is here in our own midst,' he said, 'in the great cities of England and Scotland, in the cramped and denuded villages, in the countryside—here to a degree found in no other country in Europe, in the gulch, which is steadily widening between rich and poor, in the exploitation of the laborer and woman labor, in the physical degeneration which seems to follow so very swiftly upon civilized poverty, in the havoc excited by the queer traffic in the constant insecurity of a man's substance, and employment, in the absence of any effective minimum standard of life and comfort, and—at the other end of the scale—in the increase of a perfectly meaningless and senseless luxury. Here are the enemies and dangers of Britain, let us beware that they do not break the foundation of her power—her heart, her cheer, and her strength.'"

He asked them then to look at the other side, and said he believed that the generous forces were going to bear down the selfish forces; that the organized forces would devour the forces of degeneration; that Great Britain would save herself and guide other nations on the path of peace and progress.

Labor Exchanges.

He proceeded to discuss the labor exchanges act, and said that no doubt it would work slowly at first, and would have the usual infantile troubles. (Laughter.) But he ventured to predict that twenty years hence it would be as soon thought of dispensing with the system of labor exchanges as of cutting the telegraph wires or cutting up the railway lines. (Laughter and cheers.)

He also referred to the development bill, and went on: I am told that these schemes will weaken the self-reliance of the British people. Rich people always talk about the importance of self-reliance in others. It is very easy for them to talk of self-reliance. It is also very foolish. (Cheers.) because after all rich people are the least self-reliant of any class in the community. Some of them require twenty, others one hundred, persons to cater for their needs. (Cheers.) Nothing in our plans will weaken self-reliance in the masses of the people. But you do not make a man self-reliant by subjecting him to a strain which he cannot bear, or to a task which he cannot provide against. You do not make a man self-reliant by running a steam roller over him. (Laughter and cheers.) Our plan will have the effect of strengthening enormously self-reliance and thrift, because it will make these qualities assured of their proper award. All these things depend on the budget. After the budget is passed the rest will be mere administration and careful scientific arrangement. (Cheers.) The budget is the battle win that battle and the rest will follow from it. (Loud cheers.)

When you jump out of bed, jump for

What was the alternative to the budget? The Conservatives had not a single intelligent or coherent word to utter or any of the great questions which affected the life and welfare of the people. "What they were offering was an organized policy of constructive reaction. They intended, if they obtained a majority, to impose a complete protective tariff, and to raise money for jingo armaments and ambitious schemes of colonial adventure by the taxation of the poor. (Hear, hear.)"

Then went on to discuss land monopoly, and said that no matter where they looked they would find every form of enterprise was only undertaken after the land monopolist had skimmed off the cream of all the profits for himself. The budget made possible for the first time an effective use of the veto against land monopoly.

The House of Lords.

Now I come, he said, from the land to the Lords; it is a natural transition (laughter and cheers.) Our account with the Lords is a long and heavy one, and I decline to judge the House of Lords only by the course which they may take in regard to the finance bill. I look back upon the history of the last four years, and the humiliation which the majority who were sent to support Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has suffered during the last three years. We have seen them claiming to use the veto against any legislation sent up by any majority, however large, from any House of Commons, however newly elected. We have seen them using that veto in class interests, party interests, and personal interests (cheers), with an utter unconcern for the public welfare or for the great moral and social causes like the temperance cause. We have seen them using a power which they should not hold at all (cheers), which they held at all (cheers). We have seen them using that power to play a cynical, violent, aggressive party game according to the information which they received from the caucus of one political party. That we have seen in the past. What else are we going to see? What are they going to do about the budget? The future is inscrutable; the past is clear. The custom of 300 years forbids the intrusion of the House of Lords upon a money bill. There can be no doubt whatever about the past. Neither can there be any doubt about the action of the Liberal party. And the Liberal government will tell you in three words what that action will be—"Full steam ahead." (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

We seek no parley, we offer no compromise, we will make no bargain. (Cheers.) Let them stand aside. (Cheers.) That is all we have to say, and for the rest, we count on you to back these words by effective action at any moment. (Cheers.)

Be ready. It is a time of great importance we are reaching. I think, a decisive period in the history of our country. The foundations of our power are changing. To stand still is to fall. To fall is to perish. We must move forward. We will move forward (loud cheers), and then shall we preserve and renew throughout all the years and all the centuries the pride, the manhood, and the glory of the British race. (Cheers.)

NORWAY'S MOUNTAIN RAILWAY.

Norwegian engineers claim with justice that the new railway running between Bergen and Christiania is the most remarkable achievement in the history of the world.

The two cities are separated by 22 miles, but the intervening region comprises some of the wildest and most inaccessible heights of the great mountain system of the peninsula. No road has ever crossed these tracts, and the only means of communication between the capital and the first commercial port of the kingdom has hitherto been by sea, the journey taking 24 hours.

Considering the nature of the ground the Bergen railway follows a singularly direct route to Christiania. The line is carried up from Voss by a steep gradient to the top of the desolate Feldberg, round the neck of the fjord, and down through the rich scenery of Hallingdalen, where apparently limited forests of pine and birch and ash clothe the sides of the rounded hills, whose forms were ground out by prehistoric glacial action. All along the marvellous route the air is filled with the roar and thunder of water-courses dashing down precipices of dizzy heights, pouring an immense volume of ice-cold water into the valleys and fjords, forming here and there rapid of seething, boiling water, whose prismatic surfs rise high like artillery still, unimpeded depth where you can count the pebbles and watch the salmon trout. In the fifty-two miles between Voss and Finse, the highest station on the line, there is a rise of 3,500 feet, and from Finse down again through the Hallingdalen to Gullvik, a distance of 100 miles, there is a drop of 3,500 feet.

A locomotive of 300 horse-power is used for the trains, and the travelling is smooth and pleasant throughout. It seems to be a peculiarity of Norwegian trains to carry passengers without a jolt or a shake. Technical World Magazine.

Utilize the Herring of the Pacific Coast THE NANAIMO HERRING CANNING & PACKING CO., LTD.

In Course of Organization.
Canners and Exporters of Herring Caught in British Columbia Waters.
CAPITAL $50,000 10,000 SHARES $5.00 EACH.

PROVISIONAL DIRECTORS.
T. HODGSON, ESQ., Mayor of Nanaimo, B. C.
A. E. PLANTA, ESQ. (ex-Mayor of Nanaimo), President Messrs. A. E. Planta Ltd.
DR. J. KELLY BARRETT, L.L.D., Inspector Inland Revenue, Dominion of Canada.
ARCHIBALD CAMPBELL, ESQ., Vice-President Bank of Oklahoma.
J. S. MCCARTHY, ESQ., Messrs. The J. S. McCarthy Co., Brokers and Financial Agents.
BANKERS—Northern Crown Bank.
BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS—Martin, Craig, Bourne & Hay.
SECRETARY—Wm. Holmes Granger (pro tem).

PROSPECTUS.
This company is being organized and incorporated for the purpose of taking care of the huge quantities of herring caught in British Columbia waters. The amount of canned herring consumed in every large city is hardly realized by the public at large, all of which is imported from England and Eastern Canada, although the fish caught along the Pacific Coast are the finest the ocean can yield.

GOODS PACKED.
The staple pack of the company will be herring, which, with the type of machinery now owned by the company, can be put up in the form of blenders, fresh herrings, kippered herrings and herring in tomato sauce. In addition to these, large quantities of clams, salmon, bloater and anchovy paste will also be taken care of, the factory being fully equipped with the most up-to-date machinery for handling the same to advantage.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND.
The fish supply is unlimited and prolific. According to statistics compiled by the Inspector of Fisheries of British Columbia, the total amount exported last season of rough and salt cured herring in Nanaimo harbor alone exceeded 40,000,000 pounds. Again, Departure Bay, which is only two miles distant from the company's factory, is another point where the herring congregates, so that an ample supply of raw material is assured. Owing to the virgin field open for the company's operations coupled with prices now charged on imported goods, the profits of the company cannot fail to be large, and a trade that is based on the requirements of the masses of the people, not only in this country, but throughout the world, is one in which capital may be safely invested, and in the present instance, especially so, as being the first in the field in this great producing region will have great advantages, and will soon assume an unassailable position, unsurpassed by any other cannery in the Dominion of Canada.

FIELD UNLIMITED.
The field for the company's operations is practically unlimited, and being the only herring cannery and packing company of its kind on the Pacific Coast, assures a practical monopoly of the field covered by its operations.

PROFITS AND DIVIDENDS.
The profits of this business are well known to be very substantial and the magnitude of the operations may be gauged from the business transacted by Messrs. Macdonochie Bros. of England, William Bruce of Aberdeen, and the canneries along the Atlantic coast; the profits of most of them amounting to many times their entire paid-up capital annually.

During the herring run, which begins about the first week in November, fish are obtainable for canning and packing purposes at prices ranging from $3.50 to $5.00 per ton, according to size and quality, or less than half a cent per pound; and calculating the cost of canning same and other working expenses at the very highest rate, the dividends that will be paid to shareholders in this company cannot fail to be large.

The profits of this company cannot fail to be large. Nanaimo will command the main arteries throughout the whole of British Columbia and Central Canada, and commands regular supplies of raw material at first hand and distributing facilities, both by boat and rail, with a minimum of transportation.

The fact must not be lost sight of that all shareholders in The Nanaimo Herring Canning and Packing Company, Limited, are original shareholders, and as such will share equally in all stock bonuses rendered necessary to keep the dividends at a reasonable basis.

It would, of course, be absolutely impossible for this company, of any other concern, to state positively what the dividends will amount to, but the first 10 per cent. of the profits is guaranteed to all of our preference shareholders in advance of any dividend paid on any other stock.

ESTIMATED PROFITS.
Working on a basis of 150 cases of four dozen cans per working day of ten hours:

COST OF PRODUCTION.
12,000 pounds of herring (six tons) at $4.00 per ton delivered at factory wharf	$48.00
150 cases of four dozen cans per case (including labels and lacquer) at 12c. per dozen—48c.	72.00

Labor, Oriental, twenty at $2.00	40.00
Sundries (oil, incidentals, depreciation)	10.00
Fuel, one ton at $2.50 (at mine head)	2.50
Total	$201.50

RETURNS.
150 cases of four dozen cans per case at the present market price f.o.b. Vancouver, $1.25 per dozen, $5.00 per case.

Total $750.00
$548.50 NET PROFIT FOR ONE DAY, OR IN OTHER WORDS, A DIVIDEND OF 150 PER CENT. CAN BE PAID ON THE CAPITAL HALF YEARLY.

EFFICIENCY.
The machinery purchased by the company comprises a most complete and thoroughly up-to-date line of can-making machinery, manufactured by Rhodes & Sons of Wakefield, England, and capable of producing the modern drawn sanitary stainless can recently adopted by the well-known firms of Macdonochie Bros., Ltd., and C. & E. Morton, England, and it is the intention of The Nanaimo Herring Canning & Packing Company, Limited, to place on the markets of Canada, the United States and the Orient a product equal, if not superior, to those at present in the market. By the use of this type of machinery for manufacturing our cans, solder and acid are entirely eliminated for canning operations, from the fact that the cans are drawn bodily in one piece, thus entirely removing the objections, theoretical or otherwise, long entertained by consumers of these goods against the use of canned goods.

We wish to point out to prospective subscribers of this company's stock that the advantage of our position lies in the fact that there is absolutely no competition on the Pacific Coast. All goods at present consumed in the Western Canadian markets are imported from England; therefore, it is patent to the minds of all, the advantages this company has in the question of freight rates and other duties imposed on imported goods.

LOCATION OF FACTORY.
The reasons for deciding upon establishing the factory in Nanaimo harbor are many, and decision was made only after a careful study of the situation and conditions in general, by men who are well versed in the canning and packing industry. Nanaimo is destined to be one of the largest business cities on Vancouver Island; a centre of the Island's trade, and has steamship connections with all parts of the mainland—Vancouver being only 23 miles distant. It is the scene of the largest and most profitable herring fisheries on the Pacific Coast, hundreds of people being employed every season during the herring run; at present the herring only being dry salt cured.

Another feature in favor of this company's location is its ability to cater to the Canadian, American and Oriental markets, which are supplied at the present time solely by English and Halifax, N. S., firms. Therefore, at the very commencement we have the advantage over competitors of not having heavy freight rates to contend with. The establishing of this class of industry has been one of the pressing needs of British Columbia; in fact it is of vital importance for the prosperity of British Columbia generally.

GENERAL.
By a combination of circumstances now existing in British Columbia, our proposition shows money-making possibilities that are astounding.

First—Because it is by far the most profitable herring industry in British Columbia.
Second—Because it is the first and only herring cannery along the Pacific Coast.
Third—Because the business is a permanent one, and the product is consumed by every man, woman and child in the country, and will in addition, be exported largely to the Orient and elsewhere.

Fourth—Because the herring can be purchased by the company in unlimited quantities at prices ranging from $3.50 to $5.00 per ton.

Fifth—Because every share in this company will become exceedingly valuable, for not only will they receive cash dividends half-yearly, but all surplus profits, devoted to increasing plant and equipment will be capitalized by issue of bonus shares representing it, carrying the same dividends, and share certificates will be issued from time to time and divided pro rata among the shareholders of this issue.

Sixth—Because being a brand new industry in British Columbia, this is an opportunity that may never occur to you again.

Shares are $5.00 each now. In a little while it may take many times this amount to buy a single share. Capital—The first 5,000 shares being 10 per cent. preference, and preferred to the extent of 10 per cent. in first dividends.

IMPORTANT.
To insure an interest in this exceptional investment your application form should be filled out and mailed without delay, as all shares will be allotted strictly by priority of application.

HALLOWE'EN CONCERT
IN METCHOSIN HALLMost Delightful Entertainment
Held in District—Novel
Features Introduced.

The Halloween entertainment given on Friday last in Metchosin hall under the auspices of the Seaside Circle of the King's Daughters, was an unqualified success. Various amusing contests and an excellent musical programme were arranged by Mrs. A. T. Watt, and were greatly enjoyed by the large audience. The hall had been prettily decorated for the occasion by the young people of the district under the direction of Miss Pears. The gentleman's millinery competition, managed by Mesdames Smart and Clark, and the snuffing contest by the Misses Evans and Wachter and Cornwall occasioned great merriment, the scramble of the gentlemen to get hats trimmed within the given time being most amusing. The trials at guessing how many seeds in pumpkins and sunflowers, how many grapes in a bunch, kernels in an ear of corn, etc., kept Mrs. Stanley Clark and Miss Ethel Weir busy. The Misses Pears and Peachy with their peanut contest, were most popular. Palmistry and fortune-telling by the Misses Evans was greatly appreciated. The programme opened by a spirited piano solo by Miss Weir. The recitations of Miss Evans were greatly enjoyed, especially "Little Orphan Annie," which she rendered in a very pleasing manner. Mrs. Roy Troup was in excellent voice and as usual delighted the audience. Everyone was glad to hear Mr. Galt's robust voice in his two selections, and Mr. Drake's witty solo. Miss Skelton's masterly treatment of her violin solo was greatly appreciated. Metchosin is fortunate in having resident a young musician of such note and so fine an accompanist. A novel treat to the audience was the character impersonation and comic singing of Mr. Melville. He received an ovation and kindly responded over and over again to enthusiastic encores. The Scotch note struck in his song as typical of the Halloween festivities was carried on by the others taking part in the programme, in Miss Evans' "Relief of Lucknow," in Mrs. Troup's "Loch Lomond," in Mr. Galt's "March of the Cameron Men," and in the combined singing of Miss Lang and the choir. The supper committee consisting of Mesdames Reid, Inverarity, Smart and Clark had provided a bountiful repast which was served at the conclusion of the concert. A vote of thanks to Mr. Jardine and Mr. Helmcken for their kind donation of prizes and for their conveyance of the singers and those taking part in the programme was moved by Mr. Reid, seconded by Dr. Watt. The following won prizes in the different contests:

Millinery competition—1, Mr. W. Griffiths; 2, Dr. Watt.
Snuffing contest—1, Mr. Malcolm; 2, Stanley Phillips.
Guessing—Grapes, Mr. Gray; dahlia, Mr. Dreyfus; maple leaves, Mrs. Smart; peanuts, Mr. Gray; pumpkin, Mrs. Watt; corn, Hugh Skelton; sunflower, Stanley Phillips; general proficiency in guessing, Mrs. Clark; bowl peanuts (adult), Miss Peachy; bowl peanuts (children), Robin Watt.
The delightful and sympathetic accompaniments of Mr. Dobie added greatly to the songs rendered.

CURED OF LAME BACK
WHEN 84 YEARS OLD
GIN PILLS DID IT.

Anyone seeing Mr. Samuel Martin, of Strathroy, Ont., for the first time, would guess his age at about 60 years, instead of 84. He is as spry on his feet as a cat and is the picture of health. It is hard to believe that Mr. Martin passed twenty years of his life in misery, suffering tortures from Lame Back. He tried nearly all the advertised remedies and household recipes, but received no benefit from any of them. Some months ago seeing Gin Pills advertised, Mr. Martin purchased a box from W. H. Stepler, a popular druggist of Strathroy. The relief, which Mr. Martin experienced after he had taken one box, was so great that he knew he had found the right remedy at last. He bought and used two more boxes of Gin Pills, which completed the cure.

Age is no barrier to Gin Pills. They never fail to cure Lame Back and Stiff Limbs, because they cure the Kidneys and Bladder, which are the cause of the troubles. Gin Pills also act on the Liver and assist in curing Biliousness.

LITERARY WORK.

Y. M. C. A. Preparing Season's Plans in This Department of Society.

The literary committee of the Y. M. C. A., in making arrangements for the winter's work, have decided to commence with an oratory contest. They are making arrangements to have this event on Wednesday, December 1st. It was intended that this event would take place during this month, but owing to the fact that the provincial elections are so near it was thought advisable to postpone it until afterwards.

The subject is to be "The Future of Victoria," and it is expected that quite a number will enter. The rules of the contest is that only those not engaged professionally in public speaking can enter. Last year's event was very successful, and it is expected that this year's will be even more so.

After the contest an effort will be made to start a "Mock City Council," and it is hoped that those interested in the formation of such will endeavor to be present. Prizes will be offered to the successful contestants on the merits of their oratory. All entries may be made to Mr. Brace, the secretary, at any time.

MISS DUTHIE COMES
HERE NEXT WEEKTalented Scottish Vocalist Will Be Heard—High Praise
From Calgary.

After the big Burns' celebration in Calgary, Alta., on January 25th last, the Morning Albertan of that city said: "Scottish and Irish hearts were made happy and their lives will be brighter for all time to come after hearing the famous Scottish lyric soprano, Miss Lena Duthie, at the Lyric theatre last night. The programme throughout was of unusual excellence. As soon as the first notes of 'Annie Laurie' were struck, all the chatter ceased and every mind was busy with memories. The air was filled with the warm fragrance of new mown hay, the scent of vanished heather and the echo of babbling brooks.

"Miss Duthie's speaking voice was wonderful. Her articulation was perfect. Her voice was not loud, but so penetrating was its ring seemed to exact attention, and last evening the audience was spellbound. Her singing was superb. As she sang with such fervor 'Tis the Last Rose of Summer,' and then with such brilliance and harmony 'Rory o' More,' a casual observer would feel quite convinced that the enthusiastic Scotch element in the house had been very mysteriously transformed into an enchanted body from 'Erin's Green Isle.'"

Miss Duthie will be heard at the A. O. U. W. hall on Wednesday, November 10th, and will present an entirely new programme. Assisting will be new programme. Assisting will be Mrs. Butler, soloist; Mr. William Brown in his character sketches, and a company of pipers and dancers. Reserved seats are on sale at the Central Bakery, 640 Yates street.

NEW GRAND THEATRE.

Minstrel Billy Clark, who does the monologue at the Grand has an unctuous humor flowing gently and growing as it flows. You smile slightly, you chuckle carelessly, you laugh loudly. His "Onionville" reminiscences are quietly related and his infectious humor carries you with him in the narrative.

Billy Clark makes you laugh without effort to himself, and therefore, his humor is natural. He displays conscientious effort, making his presence a pleasure to the audience.

For quick and startling changes, Daniel Grimmins and Rosa Gore, who are putting on one of the feature acts, are in a class by themselves. And aside from their quick-change ability, they are natural fun-makers. The title of their sketch is "Like Mother Used to Make," and Mr. Grimmins with bewildering rapidity is first the proprietor of a restaurant, then a waiter, a chef and several other characters before the end of the skit. Miss Gore brings applause when she makes the

HOME RECIPES.

Rye Drop-Cakes.—A pint of warm milk, with half a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in it, a pinch of salt, four eggs well beaten, and enough rye flour to make a thin batter. Bake in small buttered cups in a hot oven, or on a griddle in small cakes.

Hominy Muffins.—Two cups of boiled hominy, beat smooth and stir in three cups of sour milk, half a cup of melted butter, two teaspoonfuls of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, three eggs well beaten, a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in hot water, and two cups of flour. Bake quickly in a hot oven.

Rice Waffles.—One quart of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a heaping tablespoonful of butter, two eggs, half a pint of milk and a cupful of boiled rice. Sift the flour, salt and baking powder together. Rub the butter into the flour, beat the eggs, whites and yolks separately, and add the whites stiff at the very last.

Apple Toast.—Core, peel and cut in slices six medium sized apples. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter into a saucepan, and when it is melted throw in the apples with half a cupful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of water; stew the apples quickly, tossing them with a spoon. In the meantime cut several slices of bread and fry in melted butter until golden brown. When crisp, place the toast on a hot dish, sprinkle with powdered sugar and cover with the apples.

Corn Dodgers.—Two cups of white meal, one teaspoonful lard, one egg, one tablespoonful of milk. Mix the meal and milk, put in the lard and pour over enough boiling water to wet the meal. Beat the egg very light and stir into the water, add the milk and stir the batter until thoroughly mixed. Drop by tablespoonfuls, half an inch apart, in greased pans and bake in a hot oven until a golden brown all over.

Corn Meal Mush.—Put two quarts of water into a stew pan and when it is boiling add a tablespoonful of salt and skim the light scum from the top. With the left hand pour in fresh corn meal either white or yellow, stirring continuously with a long wooden spoon in the right hand, and continue to add the meal gradually until it is as thick as can be stirred easily, or until the spoon will stand alone; stir it a while longer and when the mush is sufficiently cooked, which will be in half or three-quarters of an hour, it will bubble and puff up. Turn it into a deep basin or large platter. It may be eaten cold or hot, fried in cakes or as a garnish for meat; it makes an excellent cereal with sugar and cream for breakfast, or it may be prepared like macaroni, with eggs, milk and cheese, and baked.

Piccantini.—One peck of green tomatoes chopped fine, put in jars by layers with salt, let stand over night, drain, and add onions, eight peppers, two large or three small heads of cabbage all chopped fine, whole spices to suit taste, one cup sugar if you wish, vinegar to make wet enough and heat it all up together. Can be canned or put in a jar, keeps well. I have never measured spices, vinegar or sugar, but always tried it before canning.

Kootenay Steel Range

If you purchase a Kootenay without the reservoir and decide later that the reservoir is a real necessity, why, just order it and attach it yourself. It's easily done. Merely remove the screws and take off the plate marked "REMOVE FOR RESERVOIR" (see top illustration), which provides an opening for the hot air to come through and circulate under the reservoir. Then attach, by means of screws, the reservoir and the flue box shown in lower illustration. A screwdriver is the only tool required.

CONSERVATIVE MACHINE WINS

OLD FOUR NAMED TO CONTEST SEAT

The Tory machine won out at the convention last evening, and by an overwhelming majority their nominees were made the choice of the gathering for the election.

The opponents of the old candidates early in the game saw the uselessness of fighting the combination and dropped out, leaving the field to the workers of the machine, who had the meeting well packed to overcome any opposition.

Rather than show their weakness in a convention which was so effectively "packed" by the "machine" men a good number of the Independent Conservatives withdrew from the convention without nominating their men. They will, however, refuse to vote for the ticket selected on election day. R. E. Green, in opening the Conservative convention in Institute hall last evening, stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of nominating four candidates to bear the Conservative standard to victory in this city at the next election. "You all know," he said, "what the Conservative government has done for the country, and in the face of a representative meeting such as I see here to-night, that election means that the Liberal candidates will lose their deposits." (Wild applause.)

"Mr. McBride is unavoidably absent, or he would have told you himself of his pleasure at the sight of such a grand meeting." He then declared the nominations open and appointed the tellers. The nominees were: H. B. Thompson, proposed by Leonard Tait; H. F. W. Behnen, proposed by E. A. Lewis; Richard McBride, proposed by Col. Prior, seconded by G. H. Barnard, M.P., who in seconding hoped that some day he would have the honor to assist him to a much higher position, that of Prime Minister of Canada, which he would surely be; Fred Davey, proposed by H. Bishop, seconded by Ald. McKeown; Geo. Jay, proposed by Mr. Jas. Forman, seconded by some of the audience.

Nominations then closed and Mr. McBride was unanimously chosen. Ballots were then distributed, the count later resulting as follows:

Thompson ..... 665
Behnen ..... 643
Davey ..... 610
Jay ..... 206

The first three named were then chosen with Mr. McBride on the ticket. During the counting of ballots, G. H. Barnard, M.P., regaled the audience with a speech of many words and few facts, showing clearly that the people of Victoria had made no mistake in choosing him as a thoroughly up-to-date politician. He compared the McBride policy, which only demanded the guarantee of $21,000,000 with the G.T.P. expenditures, amounting to $80,000,000. That road had promised to shorten the route between the Pacific and Montreal by 120 miles, whereas it had only succeeded in knocking off 30 miles, at a cost of $1,000,000 per mile. He told his somewhat skeptical audience that opposition in railways was what would help development, just as a man owning a plum tree would not pick the fruit until perfectly ripe, "unless he feared that some other man would pick them before him, then he would pick them a little underdone. So a railway, unless forced by fear of competition, would leave a rich section of country undeveloped until it suited them to open it up. People said that West Coast roads would not help Victoria, but he knew that with the Barkley Sound railway the business men of Victoria would get such a cinch on West Coast trade that no other city would ever try to take it from them. He told his audience that they would never have to pay one cent of that guarantee, as British Columbia is the richest province in Canada, and the people in the East knew this. (Vigorous applause.)

Col. Prior, forgetting his connection with the Canadian Northern and the unhappy position in which he was placed through an alleged contract some years ago, became quite enthusiastic over the new election contest. He told how the doctor had made him a prisoner, but he just had to come to this convention, ("Say Bill, said a voice, "won't don't that old bloke run? I believe 'ees 'orl right.") "As Harry Barnard has just said we will not have to pay one cent of that guarantee," said the colonel.

A voice—Why not?
"Why not," because that is one of the foremost railway companies in Canada. The Western Railway would do good to everyone in Victoria."

A voice—Will it do good to the working man?
"Yes," came the reply, "for what benefits the merchant and the capitalist benefits the working man." He closed with an appeal to every young man to take a lively part in politics, for with such a leader as Mr. McBride the country would prosper.

Mr. McPhillips said that the great objection to the McBride policy was the Canadian Northern paralleling another line in parts. In the States the roads paralleled each other everywhere, even in the prairie country. This country was mountainous and passes were few, so that a parallel was unavoidable in most cases.

The count being announced at this stage, Mr. Jay arose, and after thanking his supporters, moved that the nominations be made unanimous, which was carried.

A voice—Three dollars and a ride in the p-trail wagon the last time Bill, but it's voted for the old judge anyhow just for spite.

H. B. Thompson then attempted a jocular flight speaking of John Oliver's railway policy. He thought he must have sat down with a map and a blue pencil and traced a road through every part of the country he was familiar with. Either that, he said, or else in a fit of desperation he went into a grocery store, and taking a bunch of spaghetti, had thrown it on the floor and said, "There is my railway." The speaker was well qualified to discuss the vagaries of the succulent spaghetti, his hearers let it go at that. He then gave some blood curdling statistics as to what the provinces had guaranteed to railways. Manitoba, $26,000,000; Alberta, $27,000,000; Saskatchewan, $8,000,000; while British Columbia, the richest of all, is only asked for a pitiful $21,000,000. What an opportunity to ship wheat from the northwest by the new line to Alberni, thence to Panama, whose canal would be opened about the same time the road would be finished. And so on. By the time Mr. Behnen got to his feet the hall was rapidly emptying, and his first remarks were inaudible from the noise of people tramping out. However, he managed to tell the Liberal nominees this evening were Messrs. Oliver, Meston, Currie and Morley. If these were the opponents they would be all defeated without any trouble. (Tremendous applause from the few faithful left.) Mr. Davey followed the last speaker in much the same lines and Harry Helmcken concluded.

CLEAR MORE LAND IN ALBERNI VALLEY

Four Hundred Acres to Be Made Available for Settlement in Near Future.

In a report of an interview with H. E. Beasley, superintendent of the E. & N. Railway Company, appearing in yesterday's Times, reference was made to the likelihood that greater progress would now be made in the clearing of land on Vancouver Island for settlers. It is now apparent, according to a statement issued by R. Marpole of the C.P.R., that the job of clearing 400 acres of the 800 acres which it is proposed to throw open for settlement in Alberni valley is to be undertaken immediately. This land is in the vicinity of the terminus of the E. & N. at Port Alberni.

A contract for the clearing of the land has just been awarded to Carmichael & Moorhead, a Port Alberni firm, and their instructions are to start operations immediately. In the meantime, Mr. Marpole, to divide the land into about 40 acre tracts, of which half will be cleared and stumped, and the balance left in its virgin state, so that the settler may remove the heavy timber at his leisure. By leaving half the property is not so heavy on the settler, as would be the case were all the land cleared. Divided into forty acre tracts, 800 acres will support 20 families.

COMPULSORY VACCINATION.

London Ont., Nov. 4.—The board of education has decided to stand by their present rule of compulsory vaccination for all school children. This was in answer to a petition, largely signed, asking that the clause be rescinded. The agitation arose out of the recent death by lockjaw of Arnold Court, a six-year-old boy, who was sent home from school to be vaccinated. Tetanus developed a few days later.

DIAMOND DRILL IN THE KLONDIKE

Machine Proves Satisfactory in Prospecting for Quartz.

"The diamond drill is the only means by which to satisfactorily prospect this district for quartz," said W. L. Barker, the diamond drill expert who has been working here with his drill for several weeks, says a Dawson dispatch. Mr. Barker has gone to his home in Pennsylvania, but will return next March to resume drilling.

Discussing the diamond drill and its application further here, he said:

"The diamond drill will penetrate any rock or mineral and bring out a core that gives the true nature of the country. In every other modern mining camp it is used extensively, and men opening quartz properties depend on it for the essential preliminary work. We have operated most successfully here with the drill this summer, and several years ago, when I visited this camp and sank a hole on upper Eldorado with decided successful results so far as the physical operations were concerned."

"In Cobalt numerous diamond drills are engaged, and the same activity prevails in other camps where it is the desire to know quickly whether a property is worth spending much time on it or not. Time is money in this short life, and the sooner we can prove a thing good or useless the better."

"After having been here in the early days, I always was satisfied that this country should be prospected with diamond drills for quartz. I am pleased I returned. The work I have done this year has been most gratifying, and I feel assured that if other drills were started here the Klondike would be reaping a benefit that it long has deserved."

"The diamond drill can be depended on to get a water supply as well as test rock. I opened a gusher on Glacier creek, a tributary of Eldorado, long before the famous Eldorado gusher was tapped, and I knew when I opened my hole that there was a deep underground current along that stream. Water could be gotten on creek bottom and perhaps also on benches in modest quantities with the aid of the diamond drill, but I should not recommend such boring for big works. In my years of drilling in Pennsylvania I was chiefly in quest of coal and water. Two holes I put down not long ago brought out magnificent streams, for which I got $15,000. The water is used to supply a small town."

Mr. Barton has been drilling this summer up the Klondike, prospecting for P. W. Morrison, who said: "The diamond drill should be a great factor in ascertaining the merits of the quartz indications of this country. I hope to see it used extensively."

HELD INQUIRY INTO A. McAFEE'S DEATH

Coroner's Jury Fail to Decide Whether It Was Accident Or Not.

The coroner's jury inquiring into the cause of the death of Andrew McAfee returned a verdict yesterday afternoon that he came to his death from the discharge of a shotgun, but whether by accident or with suicidal intent they were unable to determine from the evidence. The jurors were D. Patterson, W. S. Fraser, J. W. Morris, Alfred Curtis, Albert Belbeck, Albert Harding.

John Worthington gave evidence to the fact that he lived near deceased on Government street. He saw him alive on the previous evening, when he appeared better than he had seen him for a week or two. He had been ill for several weeks. On Tuesday last he heard Mrs. McAfee calling from a second story window. He ran as quickly as he could and met her at the foot of the stairs where she told him her husband had shot himself. He went upstairs and pushing open the door, found the body dead. He at once telephoned for a doctor.

Richard George said deceased had worked under him for the Hudson Bay Company for the past eleven years. He had been ill for three weeks, during which time he had not been working. He saw him on the previous Sunday, when he appeared much depressed. He was summoned to the house on Tuesday morning, where he saw the body before it was removed.

R. Hayward told of removing the body. It had apparently been pushed back from the door of the room in order to open it. There was a shotgun pressing against the stomach and near the right leg, giving the impression that the toe might have been used in causing the discharge. He looked into the gun and found one discharged shell.

Coroner Hart corroborated the evidence which had been given, he having been sent for. He said that deceased had been ill for even more than three weeks.

The jury then returned the above verdict.

LOGGING CONTINUES BRISK IN SOOKE

Fish Traps Have Been Pulled Up and Beached for Winter.

(Special Correspondence.)
Sooke, Nov. 3.—A successful year in fishing is being wound up by the last company, Todd, under the supervision of Captain McDevitt. The traps have already been pulled up and beached. During the summer four companies had six or seven steamers plying between harbor, trap and cannery, with a full force of men.

The logging industry is brisk as ever. Sooke affords a safe harbor for the logs of the Michigan Lumber Co. at Jordan river on the way to Victoria. The Mulligans are working a full equipment of men. Messrs. Philip Peut and Sanderson are each contributing their quota of logs.

Miss Rickaby, of Victoria, is acting as teacher here at present. C. B. Kerr, B.A., divinity student at Westminster Hall, Vancouver, at present Sabbath school field worker in the bounds of the synod, visited here, Otter Point road and Muir creek recently. He occupied Knox church pulpit on Sunday.

Mrs. A. E. Fishers has left Sooke and will take up her residence in Victoria. Messrs. Wm. and Curtis Muir have each built commodious residences.

A number of improvements have recently been made to Otter Point school.

Miss Mann, the teacher, is arranging for a concert and will devote the proceeds for further improvement in the school building.

ZAM-BUK ENDS YEARS OF PAIN

Powerful Proofs of Its Healing Value.

As a household remedy, useful in emergencies such as cuts, burns, blisters, etc., in any home, and particularly where there are children, Zam-Buk is without equal. Here are some opinions of its merit:

Mrs. Halliday, Wroxeter, Ont., says: "I have proved Zam-Buk unequalled for cuts, sores, and diseases of the skin. In every case to which I have applied it, it has brought about a cure, and I recommend it to all mothers."

Miss Cassie Petrie, Victoria, Mines, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, says: "For a long time I suffered from pimples and unsightly spots on my face, and hearing so much about Zam-Buk, gave it a trial. It has now removed the eruption, and I would heartily recommend it for pimples and skin diseases."

Miss A. Bourque, Notre Dame, Kent County, N. B., says: "For months I suffered with a running sore on my leg, and although I tried several ointments and salves, none did me much good. The sore would just heal over and then break out again. I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and obtained a supply, together with some Zam-Buk Soap. I carefully washed the sore night and morning with the Zam-Buk Soap, and then applied the balm. A few weeks of this treatment completely healed the sore."

Mr. Joseph Kostyuk, of Woodridge, Man., says: "I had eczema on my face, neck and hand so bad that I was unable to leave by room. Several doctors failed to do me any good, although I spent large sums of money. Zam-Buk had effected what they failed to do, and I am now cured."

Zam-Buk is the finest known cure for skin diseases and injuries. It heals cuts, burns, bruises, abscesses, ulcers, eczema, scalp sores, bad leg, inflamed patches, poisoned sores, insect stings, blisters, sore feet, etc. It also cures piles. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or post-free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

GAME BIRDS STOLEN

Raid Made on California State Farm—Reward Offered for Arrest of Robbers.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 4.—A reward of $500 is offered by the state for the capture of miscreants who have stolen and poisoned game birds on the state farm at Hayward recently.

On the night of October 23rd the prowlers opened the gates to the bird pens and before the keepers discovered the opened passages the countryside was filled with pheasants, partridges and valley quail. Most of them have been returned back into the enclosures. The birds were to be used to stock various parts of the state.

A few days ago poisoned wheat was thrown into the pens, and a number of birds were killed by eating it. The matter was kept quiet with the hopes of apprehending the guilty men. Repeated raids on the pens, however, finally caused Governor O'Neill to authorize a reward for their capture.

Nairobi, British East Africa, Nov. 4.—J. Alden Loring, the naturalist, and Major Edgar Mear, both of the Roosevelt hunting party, returned here to-day from their expedition to Mount Kenya. The climbers ascended the mountain to an estimated height of 16,500 feet, reaching the highest point it was possible to attain without the aid of alpenstocks. This was within 500 feet of the summit. They collected specimens of more than 2,000 birds and mammals, and made many photographs.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 4.—The police caught John Madolon driving a dagger into an unknown man prostrated on the sidewalk of Bloomfield avenue, yesterday. Although two officers rushed up and grabbed the assailant his victim had by that time been fatally stabbed and died on the way to a hospital. Madolon and Joseph Wello, a young man who had been standing calmly by watching the killing were both arrested.

THOMAS BRYDON FOR SAANICH

LIBERALS SELECT STRONG CANDIDATE

Well Known Resident of Dis- trict Has Entered Heartily Into Fight.

The Liberals of Saanich last night selected Thomas A. Brydon to contest the constituency in the Liberal interests against D. M. Eberts, the Conservative candidate at the forthcoming election. The choice was made unanimous and was pronounced by the delegates to the nominating convention held at Boleskine road schoolhouse as the best and strongest choice the party could make. The convention after hearing Mr. Brydon immediately got down to work and started the campaign going, struck committees for each district and arranged to have the candidate come to the district for consultation and to place a "bulletin" campaign.

The nomination went to a contest. Andrew Fow, a Boleskine road delegate, being nominated by H. E. Tanner. Twenty-three delegates voted, the other two being the candidates. Mr. Brydon secured a majority that showed he will be well supported in each of the five districts and the selection was made unanimous on the motion of Mr. Fow.

John Oliver, leader of the Liberal party, was present before the ballot was taken, and addressed the convention and a large number of electors who were in the hall. Mr. Oliver was warmly cheered on arising and was accorded the support of the meeting and thanks for his stirring speech when leaving.

Mr. Oliver spoke for an hour, going over the whole situation, showing the weakness of the McBride railway policy, and putting before the electors in detail the platform of the Liberal party dealing with railway matters, timber, health, municipal laws, local option, Asiatic immigration, better terms and the provincial police department. His concluding remarks, which were heard and applauded, were: "It is now time to get down to practice. We have been living on air and promises long enough." Mr. Oliver had with him a large map showing the two railway policies in detail, the disadvantages of the government's proposals and the tremendous advantages of the opposition railway policy.

Alfred Fow, David Stevens, H. Tanner, A. Strachan, J. A. Grant and others spoke, all endorsing the candidate that their districts were working to the limit and would keep working hard till the closing of the polls on the night of the election day.

After the nomination had been made the candidate was called upon to speak. Mr. Brydon referred to Mr. Oliver's speech as a masterly exposition of the political situation as it stands today. He said he was not prepared to go over the same ground last night as it was unnecessary for Mr. Oliver had just spoken so comprehensively on it. He, however, saw the position from the Saanich interest as one of a question of service. He had been twenty-five years in the province and was a Liberal from way back. The Liberal spirit, he declared, was in the blood of his family and he couldn't get rid of it if he wanted to. He had been three years a member of the Victoria city council and reminded the electors that the present agent general had started in the same place. He had been building inspector, contractor and fruit grower, but the last he had found best of all.

Comparing the island with the mainland, Mr. Brydon showed the island fruit lands had been neglected to the advantage of the mainland districts by the government. The reason he felt had been due to the fact that Saanich had been represented in the last legislature by a lawyer instead of a fruit farmer. This, he said, should not be, as to have the interests of the district thoroughly looked after a man of themselves should represent the fruit growers and farmers in the provincial parliament. He held a business man who understood the wants of the Saanich constituents and not a lawyer should be the representative of the district. Lawyers he said could always be employed.

Mr. Brydon called for unity among the workers. He asked for hard and earnest work. Last election had only been lost by 18 votes, and this year he knew the Conservatives of the district were dissatisfied. They were tired of Mr. Eberts, he said. He drew attention to the fact that it was now three weeks from election, and no voters' lists were out yet. Referring to his opponent he said he had done nothing for the farmers of Saanich or for the farmers' institutions. He declared there had been a string on all Mr. Eberts' actions during the last parliament, and that the Liberals could beat the Conservatives if they worked hard and earnestly. "I see a victory for the Liberals again in Saanich," said the candidate.

Mr. Brydon arranged to meet his various committees, and will as soon as the related election lists are out send his platform to every elector in the district. In conclusion, Mr. Brydon said: "I'll hold my own with the opponent. I am not in the least worried."

for I'll deal with facts as against bluff." The chair was occupied by David Stevens, president of the Saanich Liberal Association, and the delegates present were: Gordon Head—A. Strachan, G. Watson, J. Irvine, Isaac Somers and Peter Merriman. Oak Bay—William Noble, J. L. Colbert, Capt. James, C. Poole and F. Sere. Boleskine Road—Alfred Fow, C. Polster, C. Goodman, C. Moore and W. Smith. Royal Oak—T. A. Brydon, James A. Grant, Walter Heil, D. Tilman and J. G. Elliott. Saanich—H. E. Tanner, Frank Tanner, Ralph Fowke, James Matthews and G. W. Stewart.

TESTING AEROPLANE.

Beginners Establish Record on United States Government Airship.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—Lieuts. Humphreys and Foulers yesterday flew an hour and three-quarters of a minute on a government aeroplane, breaking all records for sustained flights made at College Park since the beginners school, which is being held under the direction of Wilbur Wright.

The young men showed a strong inclination to keep up longer, but Wright signalled them to descend on account of the wind, which was rising.

PROPOSED REFUGEE HOME.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 4.—The W.C.T.U. executive yesterday decided to memorialize the federal and provincial governments to establish refugee homes for released prisoners, to teach them trades and give them a new start in life. It was also decided to send to the Canadian Press Association a protest against the publicity given to details of murder and divorce cases and other sensational matters. Mrs. A. Gordon Wright was elected delegate to the world's convention in Glasgow next June.

WATCHMAN LOSES HIS LIFE IN FIRE

Burned to Death While Trying to Escape From Warehouse.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Petaluma, Cal., Nov. 4.—Night watchman Isaac L. Memory was burned to death early to-day in a fire which destroyed the office and warehouse of the Petaluma Incubator Company. The watchman's body was found with the right hand tightly clutching the knob of the front door. He apparently had tried to escape from the burning building, but was overcome by smoke and then burned to death before he could turn the door knob.

The burned structure was a two-story frame building. The factory is running as usual to-day. The loss, which is estimated at $200,000, is covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is believed to have been the work of incendiaries.

SUSPECTED MURDERER TAKEN.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 4.—Steve Milanovitch, who is alleged to have stabbed John Sigich to death in a saloon here last Wednesday, was captured yesterday morning at Lind, Wash. The killing took place in the presence of a hundred men. Sigich's spinal cord was severed by a knife thrust. Friends of both men tried to stop the crime, forcing the authorities to work under difficulty.

ELECTIONS IN PHILIPPINES.

Manila, Nov. 4.—Returns from the general election of members of the assembly, provincial governors and municipal officers, are coming in slowly. The Nationalists have carried the provinces of Laguna, Pangasinan and Batangas. Among the defeated candidates is Governor Calles of Laguna, a Filipino, who has long been the executive of that province.

AMUR WAS INJURED ON SUNKEN ROCK

Tenders Being Called for Her Repairs—Beatrice Tak- ing Run.

Steamer Amur, of the C.P.R. fleet, returned to this port last evening, having come direct from the Queen Charlottes without passengers or freight after running on a sunken rock and injuring her bottom. She is to-day being hauled out on the ways of the Victoria Machinery Depot, and tenders are being called for her repair. In the meantime the Princess Beatrice is taking the run, leaving on Saturday night for the Queen Charlotte Island ports.

It was early in the morning when the steamer bumped. She was on her way from Cumshinga inlet to Skidegate, and was five miles from shore, opposite Spit Point, passing through water charted as having a depth of six or seven fathoms. Suddenly she grated on something and bumped again and again, and was off before the engines could be stopped. The tide was low and there must have been about fourteen or fifteen feet of water over it.

The steamer having a double bottom, there was no danger of her sinking, but one of her propeller blades having been lost and another partly broken off, she was somewhat delayed in coming home. There was also a good deal of rough weather and the sea was running so high that at least one of the passengers was thrown out of his bunk.

BRACKMAN-KER
MILL DAMAGED*UPPER STORY IS DESTROYED BY FIRE*Firemen and Superintendent of Mill Sustain Injuries.

A fire which threatened destruction to $75,000 worth of stock and property broke out yesterday afternoon between 2:30 and 3 o'clock in the Brackman-Ker mill at the outer wharf, but through the agency of the local fire brigade was confined to the top floor in which it started and resulted in damage to the extent of but about $15,000.

The loss is confined in the roof and upper floor of the mill, the loss of a little shafting and machinery, about two tons of premium crockery and a small amount of stock. A quantity of stock stored on other floors of the building is damaged by water.

The fire started on the top story, and was first noticed by H. A. White, the miller, who saw smoke, which quickly increased in volume. He and other employees gave the alarm and ran down stairs, where eleven employees gathered to fight the fire. Their efforts were unsuccessful and a call was sent into the central fire station.

Three men were hurt during the fire, two firemen and R. Marwick, superintendent of the mill. Mr. Marwick received a scalp wound, being struck by falling debris. The wound bled freely.

SCENE AT FIRE.

but was not serious. Fireman Alex. Munro was cut on the head, and Fireman Thomas Stott, while fighting the fire from the top floor fell through the burnt floor and injured his side. He was taken out and conveyed to the Royal Jubilee hospital, but his injury will not keep him there any great length of time.

The work of the fire brigade has received loud praise from C. W. Rhodes, local manager of the company, and from the majority of those who gathered to see the conflagration. The fire was fought from inside the building, and from the top floor on which it raged, and within half an hour what was a roaring mass of flame was subdued and every spark extinguished.

Fire Chief Davis responded to the alarm with the full apparatus, and immediately stationed men on ladders outside the building while he went inside to estimate the damage. The men were taken inside up the stairs to the top floor, where three streams were brought into play. Three times the firemen tried to gain access to the top floor, however, before they were successful, being driven back each time by the heat and smoke. When the fire finally burst through the roof, carrying away in Vancouver, but was wired to immediately and is now on his return. He will reach here this afternoon, and as soon as the wreckage is cleared away the repairs will be proceeded with immediately and new machinery installed. The company's mills at Calgary and Strathcona have been communicated with to ship supplies to Victoria for the meeting of the demand of the local customers until the mill is in operation again. The hay and feed business will not be interfered with at all, as the bulk of that stock was stored in a building separate from the mill, which the fire did not reach.

While the fire was raging water was kept playing on a dredge between the building and the chemical works, and also on portions of the chemical works nearest the fire. At times the wind rose and carried the flames towards the works, but the building was never in danger.

The speed with which the fire was extinguished once the brigade got at it from inside the building was commented on by the bystanders who had expected fifteen minutes before to see the building a total wreck.

MR. STEAD AND DR. COOK.

Explorer Termed "An Inexperienced Child Who Needs to Be Looked After."

W. T. Stead in the current number of the American Review of Reviews describes his first meeting with Dr. Cook at Copenhagen and his impressions then and afterwards of the Arctic explorer. In the struggle with the surging crowd on shore Mr. Stead says: "My face was close against Dr. Cook's left ear, and as we pushed backward and forward and swayed to the right and the left, making slow advance towards the carriage that seemed as inaccessible as the North Pole, I began a series of 'talks with Cook.' I did not exactly hug him to my heart, I had a good hearty grip of him around the chest."

Describing the man, Mr. Stead says: "I think almost all of us who went to Copenhagen would agree with me that he does not strike us as a man but rather as a child—a naïve, inexperienced child, who sorely needed someone to look after him and take care of him. What he ought to do in his own interest, it was really most pathetic to see his efforts to readjust himself to the busy, bustling new environment of modern civilization."

"Why this hurry?" he was always asking with the absent air of a man who has lived six months at a time in the timeless solitude of the Arctic night. As for his inability to protect his own interests even in matters of pounds, shillings and pence, it was almost pitiful. And as he allowed himself to be exploited in many matters, so he displayed an almost infantile inability to see the obvious precautions which he ought to take for his own defence."

Mr. Stead concludes by saying that Dr. Cook is entitled to a suspension of judgment. "Mistaken he may be. A faker, a liar, a deliberate scoundrel who set forth to make a fool of the whole human race, that he is not. He is both honest and too limited to have conceived so colossal a fraud."

The regular monthly meeting of the B.C.A.A.U. will be held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms on Friday evening. The chief business to come before the meeting will be the Duffy case of alleged professionalism. All members of the union are requested to be present.

SHAKESPEARE MEMORIAL*UNVEILED IN LONDON*Bronze Tablet Erected on the*Site of the Old Globe*Playhouse.

Sir H. Beerbohm Tree recently unveiled a bronze tablet erected in Park street, Southwark, London, on the site of the old Globe Playhouse, the memory of Shakespeare. It is over 300 years since the great dramatist trod the boards of the old Globe Playhouse, and wrote for it some of his most immortal works. The site is now used as a brewery. Within the past few days some doubt has been thrown upon the spot selected, as to whether it is really the place on which the Globe Playhouse stood, it being shown on the strength of documents discovered by an American author, that the north side and not the southern should have been chosen as the spot which Shakespeare had so often peopled with the progeny of his genius and which has played so great a part in English literature. But as was pointed out by Sir Herbert Tree, records were unearthed "in the nick of time" which dispelled the uncertainty caused by the interpretation placed on an old legal document and which established that the site originally selected was the genuine one.

Before the proceedings commenced a luncheon was given by Messrs. Barclay, Perkins &amp; Co., at the brewery, at which Sir Herbert Tree presided.

The Bishop of Southwark, who was one of the guests, speaking on behalf of Southwark Cathedral and diocese, said that not only were his people ready, but they "claimed" to join in celebrating the memory of Shakespeare and his associations with Southwark. (Cheers.) "I feel sure," his lordship added, "that one of the things which religion ought to do, and is formed to do, is to co-operate with and give respect to whatever gives dignity and loftiness to humanity, to whatever calls out its finer and more delicate faculties and gives legitimate instruction or legitimate entertainment. Nobody can deny that Shakespeare did these things. We, therefore, feel that we are in place in joining with our fellow-citizens in that which does honor to our great dramatist and poetic genius."

Sir Edward Clarke, speaking of his amusement at the controversy which had lately taken place as to the exact site for the tablet, related a story as to a discussion between archbishops to a discussion between archbishops to the position of the officiating clergyman at the administration of the sacrament. At the end of the meeting a paper was found where Archbishop Magee had been sitting, on which was written: "The Liturgy says, 'before the table,' and the question is, what it means. It was said that the piper played before Moses. It might mean one of several things. It might mean that the piper played in front of Moses; but it is difficult to see that it meant that the piper played at the north end of Moses." (Laughter.)

Sir Herbert Tree related how, when he visited the site of the tablet, he jumped into a taxi-cab, and abstractedly asked the chauffeur to drive him to the Globe theatre. He was an up-to-date driver, and so Sir Herbert found himself at the end of his journey in Shaftesbury avenue. (Laughter.) The next driver was a literary one, and when asked to make for the "old Globe," immediately asked, "Which side of the road, Sir Herbert?" (Laughter.)

The gathering afterwards repaired to an open auditorium in the brewery grounds, at which Mr. Cecil Jennings (treasurer to the Shakespeare Reading Society, under whose auspices the tablet was erected), announced that all let was obtained. (Applause.) Sir Herbert Tree, when performing the unveiling ceremony, declared that tradition had once again been vindicated, and that "the storm in a teacup" he had almost said "the breeze in a beer-barrel" (laughter)—had passed away. He did not know which was more contentious, the North Pole, the Budget, or the Globe Theatre. (Laughter.) They were there that day to do honor to Shakespeare because they believed it was Shakespeare that wrote the words of Shakespeare. "And whatever we may think about Bacon having written Shakespeare's works," proceeded the speaker, "we are quite certain that Shakespeare did not write Bacon. Today we hear much about a national theatre, which must be permanently dedicated to the great national poet. It will be a revival of the old Globe Playhouse, and as long as English is spoken, and as long as the human heart beats, so long will the spirit of the Playhouse of the world remain in the playhouse of the world." (Applause.)

The tablet was then unveiled, Sir Herbert saying that it was to the memory "of London's greatest Londoner, William Shakespeare."

The bronze memorial, which was designed by Mr. William Martin, and is 5 ft. 6 in. by 3 ft. 6 in. in dimensions, depicts an aspect of Bankside in the time of Shakespeare. A medallion bust of the poet is seen on the left, while the centre is occupied by a view of the Globe Playhouse.

There are now over 10,000 members in the French Aerial League.

"THE FIRM JAW."

Another illusion shattered! Novelists hitherto have reeled a good deal on the hero's firm set, determined jaw. Wright's jaw, Shackleton's jaw, Bierliet's jaw have all come in for their meed of admiration, but here comes Dr. Cole Newton, a London surgeon, who says that square jaws and determined minds in men are no capricious gifts of nature, but simply the result of proper feeding and a consequently healthy set of teeth, says the New York Sun.

"If you wish your children to grow up men and women of determined jaw and strong character, teach them to use their teeth on tough, solid food. Steady mastication permits the teeth to develop the jaw. When you have the jaw, the rest follows. It must be understood that the teeth must be looked to in more or less early youth if they are to bring about anything in the nature of a square jaw and all the strength of mind it implies. In support of Dr. Newton's theory it may be remarked that ill-fed boys who are taken off the London streets and sent to a training ship to prepare them for the navy usually emerge with a well developed jaw, a change that may very well have been brought about by the hard beef that constitutes the chief item of their bill of fare aboard."

FRENCH SUFFRAGISTS.

Madame Schmah, leader of the French female suffragists, who has been received by M. Briand, is delighted at the sympathetic attitude of the Premier towards the Suffragist movement, though it is admittedly non-committal. M. Briand's concessions appear to have been summed up in the following words of advice: "It is for you ladies who desire the vote to create a situation worthy of the attention of the government."

Mme. Schmah, in an interview, evades the invitation of her opponents to compare British and French Suffragists, remarking that, while some French women would willingly lay down their lives for the cause, she personally considered that such ideas were insane, since violence never yielded enduring results.

SUPPOSED NOBLEMAN DIES IN DENVER

Austrian Consul Searches for Body of Johann Salvatore.

(Times Leased Wire.)

Denver, Col., Nov. 4.—The Denver Post says: "Count Louis von Vetsera, of Austria, known more familiarly as Johann Salvatore, died in Denver on Saturday. This became known to-day when the Austrian consul called on Mayor Speer and asked his assistance in finding the body of the supposed nobleman. Under what name he lived and died is as much a mystery as the death of Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria and Countess Marie Vetsera was until in the course of years it became known that Louis Vetsera, brother of the countess, was the man who killed Rudolph and Marie.

"A cable from the state department at Vienna, a telegram from the Austrian ambassador at Washington, and notification from the Austro-Hungarian consul at San Francisco conveyed the intelligence of the count's death to the local Austrian consulate and gave instructions that the body be found and properly identified."

MAN CONFESSES

DOUBLE MURDER

The prosecution is keeping Borden away from court, but say that he will testify after Mme. Steinhil's examination has been finished. This probably will be to-day.

The only statement that the "red widow" made that could be construed in any way as bearing upon the late President Faure was the following: "My husband took me to the salon of a high dignitary of the republic. He later became my lover. He was interested deeply in my husband's painting. The only reason that he ever did me was in dying and not taking me with him."

The woman continues to maintain that the murders were committed by three men and a red-haired woman, who were all dressed in long, flowing robes.

In reviewing the case and in referring to the woman's answers to questions, M. Valles, of the prosecution, said:

"Mme. Steinhil was a liar at the age of five years and never has reformed." Mme. Steinhil appeared scarcely alive while Jean Lefebvre was making his statement. When he had finished his confession the woman threw up her hands, tottered and would have fallen had not guards rushed to her assistance. When she was carried to her chair the "red widow" completely collapsed. When she had recovered sufficiently she shrieked at the top of her voice, "I am innocent, I tell you that I am innocent. I have told you all the while that I was innocent. Now that this man has confessed, do you still believe me guilty? Why do you continue to persecute an innocent woman in this manner? If there is the least bit of justice to be obtained in France you will release me this afternoon, right now."

Lefebvre was allowed to make his confession after he had written a note to the woman's counsel, in which he asked permission to make an important statement to the court. Counsel then obtained the court's admission.

Neither the presiding judge nor the woman's lawyers knew the nature of the statement that Lefebvre was to make, and when the man tragically declared that he was guilty of the murders and demanded the instant release of Madame Steinhil, the judge and the entire court room assemblage were equally astounded.

The prosecution scoffs at Lefebvre's confession, declaring that the man is crazy. Counsel for the defense, however, declare that they are sincere in the belief that Lefebvre is one of the three men whom Mme. Steinhil says is responsible for the murders.

Lefebvre, who is about 26 years of age, is practically unknown in Paris. In a tragic manner, after proclaiming Mme. Steinhil entirely innocent, he recited every detail of the murders, declaring robbery to have been the motive. Lefebvre declared that he disguised himself as a woman, and with a companion proceeded to the Steinhil home, where he murdered the artist and Mme. Joys. At this juncture of the confession, the "red widow" dropped into a dead faint, and it required several minutes to revive her. When she had recovered the judge ordered the Frenchman to take a position behind the rail.

Lefebvre did so, and facing the spectators, gave a detailed story of the murders.

At the conclusion of his statement, Magistrate Devalles ordered the court attendants to carefully search the man.

A woman's red wig was found in a pocket. Lefebvre declared that his accomplice in the murders was dead.

Justice Devalles ordered Lefebvre to be locked up until an investigation as to his sanity could be made.

After Lefebvre had been removed from the court room the trial of Mme. Steinhil was resumed. By this time she entirely recovered her self-possession and confidence and her answers to the questions of the presiding judge were filled with biting sarcasm.

Those China Tea Sets on the Balcony Are Worth a Visit

We Suggest That You Make a Tour of Inspection Through The China Shop

A TOUR of inspection through our china store will prove a revelation to a few who imagine that only in the large centres can one see anything like a fair assortment of fine china. An inspection of our offerings will quickly dispel any such preconceived notions, for we are told by globe trotters—by folk who have visited every important point in the world—that seldom indeed have they seen the equal of this china store.

Special attention is called to our offerings in china tea sets shown on the balcony. There is a grand assortment of decorations and a correspondingly large choice in the matter of price. Both will please you.
